IN THE BEE TO-DAY

WEATHER.

The official local forecast for to-day is fair, warmer. For Tuesday, warmer, cloudy, with rain after noon.

Observer Hagen, United States weather bureau, Toledo, says: Another low area has developed in the Canadian Northwest to-day as Chicago, and will be felt here and extends as far south as the Indian territory. Its influence is felt as far east to-night in the shape of warmer winds and lower pressure, and to-morrow and Wednesday as rain. The only remnant of our late cold wave is in the St. Lawrence valley, where it is 10 degrees above. The highest temperature on the government weather map to-day is 60 degrees, at Galveston; the lowest is in western Canada, where it is 18 degrees above. The highest here in Toledo yesterday was 31 degrees; the lowest this morning was 19 degrees.

Forecast for western New York, Ohio and Indiana: Warmer; fair; southerly winds increasing in force.

For Illinois: Fair until Tuesday morning, followed by increasing cloudiness; warmer to-day, slightly colder on Tuesday; winds shifting to westerly.

For upper Michigan: Light snows; southerly winds; warmer, followed by colder weather Tuesday night.

For lower Michigan: Generally fair and warmer until Tuesday morning, followed by occasional showers Tuesday; southerly winds.

For Wisconsin: Increasing cloudiness, probably followed by occasional snows on Tuesday; southerly, shifting to westerly winds; colder by Tuesday night.

MISS GOULD'S DEBUT.

A Coming Out Party of Much Notoriety.

How the Many Times Millionaire's Daughter Announced to the World that She Was "In Society."

New York, Dec. 28.—The windows of the Gould mansion, No. 579 Fifth avenue, were darkened early Saturday afternoon. Behind them all was light, beauty and perfume. The stately home had been transformed into a bower fit for the debut of the fair young mistress, Miss Helen Gould.

When Manager La Jos and his Hungarian orchestra struck their first notes from the palm and holly-screened alcove in the hall, the Gould drawing rooms were indeed an enchanting picture.

The carpets are Axminsters of the tenderest tone of cream and pearl. The furniture is Louis XVI. of the richest possible description, and on every cabinet, bookcase and table, and veiling all the hangings, were masses of bloom against rich holly, ground pine and mistletoe. Mistletoe in huge bunches hung from the chandeliers and in the doors, and orchids were everywhere. Two large stands bore a dozen huge bouquets sent to Miss Gould and a third had on it a mass of lilies of the valley three feet square.

Before a screen of palms and ferns stood the debutante, in an imported toilet of blue and silver brocade receiving her friends with an air of dainty half-timidity that sat very sweetly upon her. Assisting her were Mrs. George Gould, in a gown of ivory and gold satin, and several other leaders.

A little way from the bevy of beauty, looking lovingly at his daughter and bowing graciously in acknowledgement of the many compliments her sweetness solicited, stood Jay Gould, looking a little older and a little more bent in his immaculate evening dress than in his business garb.

A superb collation was served by Delmonico, and late in the evening a few indefatigable young people danced a little to the music of the Hungarians.

CRANK AFTER CHILDS.

The Epidemic Has Reached Philadelphia.

A Crazy Man with a Knife Declared It His Intention to Take the Life of a Well-Known Man.

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—A man giving his name as James Bonaparte entered the office of George W. Childs on Saturday afternoon and demanded to see Mr. Childs. In reply to a question as to the nature of his business the man replied: "I intend to kill him."

On being intercepted by the clerk the fellow drew a knife, but whatever his intentions, he evidently changed his mind when he saw several other clerks coming toward him and made his escape.

Late in the afternoon the man was arrested and examined by a physician who said he was undoubtedly insane. He was then sent to the Pennsylvania hospital.

THERE WILL BE WAR

Such is the Chilian News of To-Day.

The Foreigners Will Refuse to Apologize

And Uncle Sam Will Have to Do Some Shooting.

Inside Information From Washington.

The Army and Navy United for a Campaign Against the Administration of President Montt—Sensational News From the National Capital.

New York, Dec. 28.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald telegraphs that paper as follows:

I have obtained the most valuable information that has yet been made public regarding the Chilian affair. There is no question that the administration fully expects a refusal of Chili to comply with the demand for an apology and indemnity, and is ready to ask congress for power to declare war, for which preparations have been and are still being made.

Chili, feeling that she is in the right, is determined not to apologize, even at the cannon's mouth. Such is the situation upon the diplomatic chess board.

Chili has not yet asked for arbitration, but it is known to the cabinet and to your correspondent that she is likely to do so.

Minister Montt, the Chilian minister here, has all along seriously doubted the intention of this government to declare war in event of Chili's refusal to accede to our demands.

To-day, however, he realized his mistake, and the result was that he cabled to President Montt that the situation here was very serious, that this government meant fight, and that the navy was rapidly being placed on a war footing.

This in itself is startling news, and here is more of the same sort.

Not only has the navy been made available in case of hostilities, but great activity has taken place in the army, and both departments are now ready to act in concert at a moment's notice.

I have it that Admiral Gherardi will be placed in command of the naval forces. It is also pretty definitely settled that Gen. Miles will have command of the land forces.

Plans have already been made to promptly move 10,000 troops. The men have been selected, the transports provided and all is ready to place this force on Chilian soil very soon after war is formally declared.

It is proposed to take these troops from the regular service. The western forts which they will leave will be garrisoned by militia and volunteer frontiersmen.

New York and other large cities where troops are not needed will also be drawn on. These troops, as planned, will leave the United States from several different points. Some will embark at San Francisco, others at Galveston, New Orleans, Key West and other southern points.

Of course a proposition to arbitrate would seriously interfere with all this.

Minister Montt, who is an exceedingly cautious man and who knows the difficulties of advising the home government when it is not believed there that this government means war, has at last suggested to President Montt the propriety and advisability of asking this government to lay all the facts in connection with the Baltimore case before a board of arbitration.

I am told that there is considerable doubt as to just how this suggestion would be received.

Powder and Guns.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The navy department has ordered the shipment of 42,000 pounds of prismatic powder and 11,000 six-inch shells from League Island, Pa., to San Francisco. The department has also ordered the new 12-inch gun, made at the Washington navy yard, to be sent to San Francisco. The gun will be placed on a large flat car and taken to the Pacific coast as soon as possible.

Sale of Ditch Bonds—Ladies Preparing to Celebrate Leap Year's First Day—General Mention.

Norwalk, O., Dec. 28.—(Special)—The county commissioners received bids Saturday afternoon for $9,000 worth of ditch bonds. Only two bids were presented, one from The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings bank of Minneapolis, Minn., and one from the Huron County Banking company of Norwalk. The former was by telegraph, and as it was not accompanied by the deposit of $450 required by the advertisement it was rejected and the bid of the Huron County Banking company for $9,037.50 was accepted.

The bonds will be issued in the denominations of $500, $300 and $200, bearing 6 per cent. interest, and will be payable January 1, 1894.

TO SQUARE THE ACCOUNT.

Sims and His Crowd Meet an Expected Fate.

Shulita, Miss., Dec. 28.—John Sims, brother of "Bob" Sims, and Mosley Sims, a nephew, were lynched last night and the lynchers are in hot pursuit of a negro who was with Sims the night of the massacre.

"Bob's" dwelling, together with all outbuildings, have been burned and every living thing except the family, on the place has been killed. The Sims family say they will leave the country.

It is reported that Neal Sims has gotten together about 40 men and threatens to burn up Womack Hill to-day. Bob Sim's body and those of three of the Savages have been cut down and thrown into a grave yard. John Savage's body is still hanging.

ROBBED AND MURDERED.

Brazil, Ind., Dec. 28.—The body of Albert Kennedy, engineer at the Chicago mine of the Brazil Block coal company, was found on the Indianapolis & St. Louis track near Carbon, mangled almost beyond recognition. It is thought he was murdered and robbed, and his body laid on the railroad track to hide the crime. He had considerable money when last seen at Carbon on Christmas eve.

CHACE OUT ON BAIL.

New York, Dec. 28.—When the case of the alleged opium smuggler Chace was called last Tuesday the prosecution was not ready. Counsel for Chace then moved for a reduction of bail and it was reduced to $2,500. A check for that amount has been deposited and Thomas F. Chace, for the first time in weeks, is now out of jail.

PANIC ON A STEAMBOAT.

Fire in the Ladies' Cabin Causes the Consternation.

The City of Bridgeport Had a Narrow Escape.

Panic Stricken Men Add to the Confusion Caused by the Shouting and Fainting Women and Children.

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 28.—The steamer City of Bridgeport left New York Saturday afternoon as usual. When the boat reached a point off Norwalk, passengers observed flames bursting from the floor of the women's cabin.

In a second the wildest excitement prevailed. The passengers, mostly women and children, returning from a shopping tour in New York, were panic-stricken. There was a rush for life preservers and women fainted. Many of the men on board lost their presence of mind and thought only of themselves, some securing three life preservers, while helpless women and children had none.

The officers on the boat were unsuccessful in their efforts to restrain the passengers. The crew was ordered to the pumps, but the latter could not be made to work for several minutes. Meanwhile the flames, which started at the bottom of the smokestack, gained considerable headway. The captain ordered the pilot to head for the Connecticut shore and to keep within three minutes run of land and the engineer to proceed at full steam.

The crew worked at the pumps for half an hour and succeeded in extinguishing the flames. The passengers could not be prevailed upon to remove the life preservers fastened about their bodies until the boat reached her wharf in this city when the flames again burst out anew, but for the second time were extinguished.

As quickly as possible the passengers were landed. Many of the women had to be transferred in carriages to their homes suffering with hysteria. Even the male passengers say they thought their last hours had come. They had started to cut loose the life boats.

The heroic work of the crew alone saved the boat from destruction, and the passengers from a horrible death. The pipe about the smokestack had fallen from its place, and the overheated chimney ignited the woodwork, which was fanned into a blaze. The damage to the steamer will not exceed $1,000. The officials of the company are reticent about the accident.

SHOE FAILURE.

New York, Dec. 28.—Solomon Bloomfield, dealer in shoes, 286 Sixth avenue, assigned to-day with a preference of $3,500, to the Madison Square bank.

ABOUT STEVE ELKINS,

The Man Harrison Took Into His Cabinet.

According to Secretary Foster He is the Only American Prince and Entertains Royally.

Washington, Dec. 28.—"Stephen B. Elkins is a prince, and to my mind is destined to be the richest man in America," said Secretary Foster, in discussing the new secretary of war. "Elkins is one of the few men in this country that live like a king and entertain like a royalist.

"Mr. Elkins lives at the new and beautiful city of Elkins, W. Va., on the railroad which is largely owned and absolutely controlled by the new secretary of war. It is the West Virginia Central, and penetrates one of the most promising and richest belts of timber, iron, coal and slate to be found in the world.

"Thousands and tens of thousands of acres of this land are owned by him, and he is building cities, mills and factories, and starting enterprises almost without limit.

"It seems that nearly everything to which he puts his hands makes money manifold a thousand times. He has banks and methods of exchanges of his own. He manufactures his own lumber and builds his own towns, opens his own mines and runs his own trains of coal, iron, logs and lumber.

"His father-in-law, ex-Senator Davis, one of the most prominent democratic politicians in West Virginia, is also a wealthy man. The father-in-law and son-in-law have strong financial combinations making it easy to swing almost any kind of an enterprise.

The Elkins mansion in the beautiful little town of Elkins is a magnificent structure. When the new secretary of war goes home with a friend or a number of friends, or they would drop in upon him unannounced everything is as unrippled and without agitation as the placid bosom of an inland sea on a summer's day.

"There is sunshine and happiness and quietude. The great mansion simply becomes a hotel. The guests are assigned to their rooms and each is given a servant. The hours for meals are announced and each guest is told that if he or she is not on hand at the proper meal hour, it will be eaten alone; but it is only necessary to press an electric button and call a waiter in order to get anything the market affords.

"The guests are told that they are at liberty to do as they please—to take any kind of horse or vehicle there are in the stables, and go riding or driving; that guns and dogs may be taken into the enormous forests, and there can be hunting and fishing galore. It would be no trouble to Mr. Elkins to take half of congress and the president's cabinet home and entertain them royally upon the slightest notice."

A PRETTY MESS,

Griffin Said to Have Been Offered $5,000

For His Vote to Return Sherman to the Senate,

Which Statement the Lucas Statesman Denies,

But Walter Brown Insists That Mr. Griffin

Informed Him of the Offer in the Presence of a Third Party—The Senatorial Situation Given Another Shaking Up.

The troublesome senatorial situation was made more turbulent in this city this morning by the startling announcement that an attempt had been made to bribe the Hon. Charles P. Griffin into voting for John Sherman for United States senator.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer and other Ohio papers this morning print a most startling telegram from Columbus which quotes private information from Toledo as saying that Mr. Griffin had said to Mr. Walter Brown, of this city, that he (Griffin) had been called out of his house in the dead of night, and told that he could make $5,000 by voting for Sherman.

The telegram above referred to was quite lengthy, and it has caused a wave of excitement to sweep over the state, and especially the northwestern part of it, where Forakerites and Shermanites lose no chance to call each other liars and other terms not less elegant if they are less uncomplimentary.

Mr. Griffin was seen by a Bee in his office this afternoon and appeared to be greatly surprised when told the contents of the Columbus telegram.

He said it was the first intimation he had had that such a story was in circulation; that it was false, and that he had received a call from no midnight agent of John Sherman offering him money for his vote.

There is a Conflict.

The article referred to above was shown to Mr. Walter Brown at his place of business on Summit street this afternoon. Mr. Brown had no desire to appear in the newspapers, but he said to a Bee: "Mr. Griffin made the statement to me in the presence of a third party that he had been offered the money to vote for Sherman, which was to be divided between himself and another. The talk was held in the presence of a third party. That is all I have to say in the matter today."

HAVE CROSSED THE BORDER

Mexicans Fighting on This Side of the Line.

The Insurgents Have Crossed the River and Are Shooting Back at Government Troops.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 28.—Dr. Plutarco Ortelas, the Mexican consul here, has received a dispatch from Laredo, which states that an engagement at long range took place Saturday night between Garza's followers and the Mexican troops at San Ignacio's ranch on this side of the border, between Carrizo and Laredo; that the revolutionists were assembled in a large force on the Texas bank of the river, having been driven across by the Mexican troops.

From the United States side the insurgents opened a steady fire at the troops across the river, which was returned, resulting in one of the Mexican soldiers being killed and a number of each side wounded.

The fact that a force of Garza's men are in that locality is evidence that the movement is spreading rapidly, and as the revolutionists seek safety on this side of the border when closely pursued by Mexican troops, the necessity of better military protection of the Texas frontier is the more apparent.

The military authorities here realize that the 700 United States troops are insufficient to properly guard 1,000 miles of the Rio Grande border in time of peace, not to speak of the present turbulent times.

There has been no report of any kind from Capt. Bourke, of the Third cavalry, at military headquarters here for 48 hours. He is in command of Fort Ringgold, which Garza has threatened to capture if necessary to secure supplies.

It is the belief of Gen. Stanley, that Capt. Bourke is absent in pursuit of revolutionists. The secretary of war has telegraphed orders for every effort to be exerted to end the border difficulties quickly as may be, and for the federal troops to capture as many revolutionists as possible.

Indirect word concerning the movements of Capt. Hardie of the Third cavalry, was received at headquarters this morning, and relieved the anxiety as to his safety. He is pushing hard after a detachment of 100 of Garza's men, and will either have them chased across the river into Mexico or brought to a more critical position within the next 48 hours.

CHURCH IN FLAMES.

Norwalk, O., Dec. 28.—(Special)—The Presbyterian church at Monroeville was badly damaged by fire last night, caused by a defective furnace.

The church has just undergone extensive repairs. The interior was badly scorched, including the new carpets, seats and pipe organ, the latter being a total loss.

MAY NEED M'CALLA.

Washington, Dec. 28.—An order has been issued by the navy department remitting the unexecuted portion of the sentence of suspension imposed on Commander B. H. McCalla.

Commander McCalla was sentenced to three years' suspension for cruelty to subordinates.

WILL MINE THE COAL.

A Valuable Vein That Has Been Known For Sixty Years.

Zanesville, O., Dec. 28.—In 1829 a physician of this city, who was also quite a geologist, stopped at Chandlersville, a neighboring village, to spend the night. The pioneer who had established the village had sunk a salt well about two years before and the physician obtained a sample of the borings from the well for analysis. He obtained silver and a company was organized to mine it. After sinking a shaft and drifting and sinking another shaft, operations were stopped by the exploding of a charge which ruined the salt well and deluged the mine with water. The company was compelled to pay $1,000 damages for the injury to the well, and its members afterwards charged that the sand had been salted with silver.

During the sinking of the shaft a vein of coal seven feet in thickness was struck. Its existence has been a matter of tradition in the village. Lately, however, drillings have reaffirmed its existence, and a company of New York capitalists have secured options on the coal under 2,000 acres of land, with a view to opening extensive mines.

THE TYRONE BANK.

Tyrone, Pa., Dec. 28.—There is great indignation to-day among depositors of the wrecked Tyrone bank, and suits for $30,000 have been entered against Cashier Gueer and the stockholders. A. D. Hoover, the largest stockholder, transferred his property to J. C. Roller, of Philadelphia, Thursday. The liabilities are still increasing.

OPPOSITION TO KEELEY.

Maryville, Mo., Dec. 28.—The National Chloride of Gold institute, St. Joseph, Mo., last night filed articles of incorporation with a paid up capital of $50,000. This new institute will use the system of treatment known in northwest Missouri as the Campbell-Koch chloride of gold treatment.

ANOTHER CRANK TAKEN IN.

Young Man Who Made a Peculiar Request.

He Wanted Vanderbilt to Let Him Take His Brains So He Could Learn the Secret of Money Making.

New York, Dec. 28.—Saturday night at 1:30 o'clock, while Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt was entertaining a number of friends at his Fifth avenue residence, a good looking, well dressed young man, apparently a German, rang the street door bell.

To the page who answered the summons the visitor said he had called to see Mr. Vanderbilt personally to get his brains, which he proposed to have subjected to an expert analysis in order to determine why he (Vanderbilt) had been able to amass a fortune, while he (the caller) was practically penniless.

The page summoned an officer, who took the young man to the station house. In his pockets was found a card bearing the name John J. Lingman, 616 East Eleventh street, also a membership card of the Young Men's Christian association.

The prisoner was taken to the Yorkville police court this morning and committed, pending an examination as to his mental condition. He is uncommunicative, and is doubtless insane.

SHOT BY A DUKE.

Prince Christian Wounded Saturday.

The Duke of Connaught Shot at a Bird and Put Out the Eye of One of the Party.

London, Dec. 28.—His royal highness, Prince Christian, of Schleswig-Holstein, the husband of Princess Helena Augusta Victoria, third daughter of the queen of England, who had a narrow escape from death on Saturday last at the hands of the duke of Connaught, the third son of the queen, is said to be recovering.

Particulars of the affair show that Prince Christian, the duke and a party of friends were out shooting in the game preserves near Osborne castle, the residence of Queen Victoria, on the Isle of Wight, situated about one and one-half miles from Cowes.

The prince was slightly in advance and to the right of the duke, according to the stories told this morning, when the latter seeing a pheasant in that direction, suddenly lifted his gun and fired.

To his dismay Prince Christian uttered a cry of pain and almost fell to the ground. The prince was soon surrounded by sympathizing friends, the duke being the most eager in his efforts to assist the sufferer, who was promptly taken to Osborne castle.

A hasty medical examination showed that three pellets from the duke's gun had lodged in Prince Christian's face; two of these pellets were cut out of his cheeks, but the third was found to have pierced his right eye. It is feared that Prince Christian will entirely lose the sight of this eye.

DOWN AN EMBANKMENT.

Narrow Escape of Passengers on the Santa Fe.

Believed that the Vestibule Feature of the Train Saved Many Passengers From Instant Death.

Kansas City, Dec. 28.—The Santa Fe vestibuled limited which left Chicago at 6 o'clock Saturday evening was derailed at Bear Creek, near Newcombe, 75 miles east of this city, at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. No one was killed though several were very seriously injured. The engine, baggage and express cars passed over the small bridge safely, but the two chair cars, two Pullman sleepers and the dining car were derailed going down a steep embankment. The injured are:

Conductor Woodworth, badly hurt, may die.

Wm. Caston, head cook dining car, Mansfield, O., scalded.

Mrs. Eliza Toomey, Marion, Kan., scalp wound and a sprained ankle.

C. W. Scott, 183 Belden avenue, Chicago, scalp wound.

J. R. Whitford, Topeka, Kan., scalp wound.

Wm. Decker, Topeka, Kan., scalp wound.

Mrs. Wm. Decker, Topeka, Kan., scalp wound.

Two children of Mrs. Decker, scalp wound.

W. J. Cress, Pullman conductor, back sprained.

Mrs. Nellie A. Watson, Topeka, Kan., badly bruised.

D. D. Smith, Chicago, slightly injured.

The cause of the accident cannot now be definitely determined, as the track seems to have been in good condition, a heavy freight train having passed safely over a short time before the accident to the express. It is thought, however, that the draw-bar of the front chair car may have fallen and caught the truck of the same car, thus causing the derailment.

The fact that the train was solidly vestibuled probably averted any fatalities and is responsible for the comparatively small number injured.

SOMEBODY CRIED "FIRE!"

And a Desperate Battle for Life Followed.

A Mad Rush in a London Theater.

Men and Women Trampled to Death by a Frantic Mob Fleeing from an Imaginary Danger.

London, Dec. 28.—A frightful panic occurred Saturday night in the Royal Theater, Galeshead, resulting in the loss of a number of lives.

Galeshead is a considerable city in Durham, and as nearly the whole population is engaged in manufacturing industries during the week, the places of amusement are usually crowded on Saturday.

Owing to the Christmas season, the Royal Theater was crowded with working people. The audience, while not unruly, indulged in more license than is allowed in most London theaters, and boys smoked in the balcony without any apparent objection on the part of the attendants.

The piece on the stage was of a sort familiar in the provincial manufacturing places, including magic, sleight of hand, and other variety. One of the boys smoking got so interested in the play that he accidentally dropped a burning match on the people below him.

The match set fire to some of the theatrical furniture, exactly what is not yet known, but at any rate the slight blaze communicated to a partition. A woman noticed the fire and shrieked that the theater was burning. At once the audience, which had been all attention to the play, was aroused, and not comprehending the exact danger, made a sudden and simultaneous rush to escape.

Every aisle and avenue became packed, and the audience, which was numerous enough to have made exit slow and difficult, had there been no panic, became one panting, struggling mass of cursing men and crying, half suffocated women and children.

The strong, hearty men from iron works and mills showed no pity for the weaker sex. If a woman or child fell beneath the strain, she or it was at once crushed under iron shod heels.

Men climbed on each other's heads and sought to tread over the squirming mass of humanity to safety. Women pleaded for their little ones, holding them above their heads as far as arms could reach, and the babes, with the breath being squeezed out of them were saved, in several instances, by being grasped in the strong hands of men able to hold them with one arm above the crowd.

Down the main staircase the multitude struggled and panted. The janitor, Foster, had rushed to open the door at the foot of the stairs. The solid crowd fell on him like an immense Krupp hammer, crushing the life out of his body, which was flattened to the door. Down with him went the eight or ten at the head of the mass, and they, too, had the lives stamped out of them.

Behind, the shrieks and loud oaths, with appeals for mercy and execrations against the Creator, made a hell; in front, at the foot of the stairs, was the rampart of the dying and dead, over which the escaping multitude had to climb.

Meantime those on the stage had not been idle. It was soon apparent to the players that the panic had little or no cause and that they should appeal to the people to be still. One actor, in the attire of a magician, climbed into the balcony from the stage and implored the audience to be calm. "Return to your seats," he cried, "there is no fire; the only danger is in your panic."

Some of those in the rear turned at his words, and stopped their share of the mad struggle to get out, but the large majority heeded not the warning, and pressed on. Two men, thinking they had no other way to escape, leaped from the windows into the street, and were severely injured. Many slid down into the pit by the supports of the balcony. When the theater was at length emptied and the panic over, it was found that ten were dead and that many others had broken limbs and were otherwise seriously injured.

The fire itself, which had given occasion to the horror, was but a slight affair, having only burned through a thin partition and was easily extinguished with two buckets of water. It was sufficient, however, to make some smoke, which hung about the ceiling, and the sight of the smoke had much to do with perpetuating the panic, when it might have otherwise been calmer. The city of Galeshead has been thrown into general mourning by the calamity, and all day the theater was guarded by police from the multitude of the curious.

Many pathetic incidents occurred in the terrible crush for the doors, but it is also stated that the display of brutal selfishness overcame every other feature of the awful occurrence.

It was a sudden bend in the gallery staircase which caused the fearful jam in that exit. People who had fallen and were lying in heaps here, screaming and groaning, were trampled upon. At last so many of the struggling people had fallen that all passage for exit was effectually blocked by a mass of writhing human beings, and those still remaining on their feet were forced to seek other means of escape. The occasion was made doubly memorial by several acts of heroism. One man who had occupied a gallery seat jumped from the gallery railings to the balcony below and slid thence to the stage, all the time holding to a child by his teeth. Other men rescued several women by similar means. Meanwhile the fire was easily quenched. The police sought medical aid, and assisted in extricating the victims from the staircase—a matter of the utmost difficulty. One child, after calling out piteously, "Save me! save me!" died before it could be reached. The corpses were laid in an adjoining building, and the injured were taken to hospitals and other institutions. The news of the catastrophe spread rapidly, and soon thousands of frantic people were rushing to the scene to ascertain the fate of relatives or friends. Within a few hours all of the dead were identified.

PAHANG EXCITED.

A Malay Chief Has Started a Little War.

London, Dec. 28.—A dispatch from Singapore says that Pahang, the capital of the Malay peninsula of that name, is in a state of great excitement.

A Malay chief, it appears, surrounded by several hundred followers, has taken to the jungle after seizing the stores of that locality.

The Europeans complain that there are only 70 Asiatic policemen at Pahang, and that this force is not sufficient to protect them.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

New York, Dec. 28.—The "Sarena," a seven-story apartment house, Twenty-eighth street and Third avenue, was damaged $10,000 by fire at 7:30 this morning. The 23 families who resided in the house made their escape in safety, most of them by way of the fire escapes, with which the house was well supplied.

GAVE THEM ALL THE SLIP.

Another Strange Case of Jail Delivery.

Burglar Vanderburg Walks Out of His Cell.

The Norris - Pinkerton - Freeman - Keck Diamond Fight Recalled by the Sudden Departure of This Celebrated Criminal.

Dayton, O., Dec. 28.—Lewis C. Vanderburg escaped from jail here Sunday. He was under a five year sentence to the penitentiary for burglary committed at the house of Harvey Justice.

Vanderburg, whose home is in Chicago, where he has a wife and three children, was captured shortly after the commission of the crime, and so strong was the evidence against him that he, together with an accomplice, George Jackson, pleaded guilty. The stolen goods, amounting to $1,000 worth of diamonds, were recovered at the express office at Xenia, where the thieves had billed them for Chicago.

A pair of $500 earrings were missing and have not yet been recovered. These missing gems play an important part in the drama, and, indeed, have been, in part, the cause of the late strife between Detective John T. Norris, of Springfield, and Chief of Police Freeman.

To their disappearance each owes his arrest by the other on the charge of recovering and secreting them.

Vanderburg had friends in Chicago who were anxious to secure his release from prison, and if not that, at least a light sentence. To settle the matter they offered to pay $300 or bring about the return of the stolen diamonds.

Telegrams in reference to the proposition were received by Chief Freeman from J. G. Lansing, a reputed wealthy restauranter of Chicago, in business partnership with W. J. McGonnigle.

Subsequent to the report of these telegrams, the propositions of which were declined by both Chief Freeman and Mr. Justice unless the diamonds were forthcoming, Detective Norris put in an appearance in Vanderburg's behalf, having been sent here for that purpose, he said, by Lansing.

Although he made the same propositions, he could not afford to compromise, as Vanderburg had pleaded guilty and been sentenced. Thus it will be seen that a release of Vanderburg was a matter of pecuniary interest to somebody, whoever it was, who could effect it. At the time of Norris appearance, three Pinkerton detectives were here at work on the Keck diamond robbery, and an interesting but disgraceful fight occurred between Norris, the Pinkertons, and Chief Freeman.

Norris was here yesterday afternoon and held two conferences with Vanderburg, in the presence, however, of the deputy sheriff. So much for that part of the story.

Sunday morning Turnkey Durst entered the jail room corridor (into which open the prisoners' cells, and to which they have to cross in the daytime, their further freedom being barred by a massive iron gate with sharp pointed pickets eight feet high) for the purpose of raising a window. In doing so he failed to lock the door leading from the prisoners to the outside corridor. Strangely enough the principal door of exit from the jail room was also left open. When the turkey entered the corridor Vanderburg was seen in his cell, the door of which was open, with his coat off, and was lying on the bed.

When he returned Vanderburg was gone and is as yet a fugitive. From the same corridor might have escaped also, if they had ventured the attempt, four other prisoners, one of them a wife poisoner.

Vanderburg, with 25 other prisoners, was to have been taken to Columbus this morning. At the time of the escape Sheriff Gerdes and a deputy were in the sheriff's office burnishing the manacles to be used as a measure of safety in the transportation.

MILLION DOLLARS CAPITAL.

New Chemical Company Organized—It May Locate in Cleveland.

The Bee announced a month ago that the Dryfoos' Bros., of Fremont, had secured a 5-years lease of the Mineral Paint company's building and grounds on lower Summit street.

The company has been reorganized with close on a million dollars capital and is going to be the biggest venture of the kind in the country.

Cleveland capital is largely interested, and it is understood that the Dryfoos Bros. will throw up their plant here and locate in Cleveland. They will pay the forfeit, which is 5 years rent.

It is said Mr. Rockefeller of the Standard Oil company is behind the newly reorganized company, and is one of the largest stockholders.

FELL TO HIS DEATH.

Sad Fate That Overtook Judge G. W. McLean.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 28.—Judge George W. McLean, for 20 years judge of the circuit court, left his home Thursday morning to go to the court house. That was the last seen of him until yesterday, when his mangled body was discovered lying on the ground in an open court in the center of the court house. The head was crushed in, the legs and arms broken and the neck dislocated. It is supposed that the unfortunate man entered a small walk at the top of the high wall surrounding the court, and losing his balance fell over, dropping a distance of 60 feet. He was a warm personal friend of Gen. John C. Fremont.

PLEDGED TO REVOLUTION

Civil War Threatened in Venezuela's Republic.

President Palacio Has Misused His Office.

Leading Statesmen and Public Journals Have Decided to Drive Him from Power—The Case Stated.

London, Dec. 28.—According to the latest news from Venezuela peace is still maintained, but there are well founded fears that it may be broken if the proposed usurpation of power by the President, Dr. Andueza Palacio, is carried into effect.

It is well known that Dr. Palacio was elected directly through the influence of his predecessor, Dr. Rojas Paul, whose minister of the interior he had been, and the country entertained great hopes at his election, because it was thought that he would follow the policy of Dr. Paul, to whom undoubtedly belongs the credit of having destroyed the hateful power of Guzman Blanco by means unstained with blood, and of a most skillful and statesmanlike character. Being now, however, it is alleged, badly advised and attending only to his personal interests, the president is seeking by his influence in congress so to arrange the reform of the constitution that, without a new presidential election, he might remain in power. His desire is to continue two years longer in the presidential chair in violation of the constitution of the country, and to secure this end he is employing all sorts of means, summoning to the capital, among other persons, the presidents of the states in order that they may influence their legislatures to demand a reform of the constitution so as to suit his plans.

This the country is openly opposing, and it is preparing to energetically combat the same in every possible manner, as it is now being done by the independent press of the republic. If, however, by misfortune for Venezuela this plan should be carried into effect—which cannot be done except by coercion and force—there is not the shadow of a doubt but that civil war will ensue.

At this moment the republic is in a thoroughly unsettled and troublous condition, which is causing great anxiety to all who are in any way connected with it. Dr. Andueza Palacio is said to be daily losing ground in public opinion, and this because, in order to carry out his ends, he has resorted to arbitrary acts, such as the imprisonment of journalists who oppose him and the expulsion of his former protector, the eminent statesman, ex-President Dr. J. P. Rojas Paul, which was effected with violence, to the scandal of all Venezuela.

In the month of February next, when the congress will meet, the future fate of Venezuela will be decided, as this sovereign body, unless it is subjugated by force, will not fail to represent freely the desires and wishes of the people.

The trade between Trinidad and Venezuela is considerable, and the interests of both countries are so closely allied that great interest is naturally taken here in the existing situation in the republic. The leading paper of Trinidad, the Gazette, which is exceptionally well informed on Venezuelan affairs, said in its issue of yesterday: "In countries where constitutional forms of government are something more than a mere name, such as in Great Britain and the United States, a change of government is effected by electioneering methods. The vote is the weapon of the contending parties. At election time a change in the constitution, even if desirable in itself, would be viewed with suspicion as a party move and would come under the ban of President Lincoln's famous advice, 'Not to swap horses while crossing a stream.' But in Venezuela, where constitutional methods have long been at a discount and where the attempt to put them in practice is only of late date, these orderly conditions for a change of government are seldom met with. We have proof of this in the volcanic situation associated with the present elections, which, were it not for the greater taste for constitutional ways to be found in Venezuela since Dr. Rojas Paul broke the despotism of Guzman Blanco and gave liberty of the press to the country, is perilously near another revolution.

"The ministerial press of the country, the government organs, are urging upon or banish or otherwise direct the physical force at the command of the executive against political opponents, whose only crime seems to consist in their wishing the constitution to be respected as regards biennial elections for the presidency and the laws to be conformed with as regards the freedom and property of individuals. In the illegal expulsion of Dr. Paul a vivid illustration is afforded us of the high-handed ways of the policy of the party in power, who, in wishing to change the administrative term from two to four years are actutated more by a desire to retain the reins and spoils of power in their hands than to improve the constitution of the country."

As bearing out what I have heard concerning the likelihood of a revolution I quote following from the same paper which is a thoroughly correct version of the situation:—"The transparent party of the ministerial party does not seem to have deceived the Venezuelan public. This party are attempting to get partisans in the various states to petition congress for the change in the law in the hope that congress will pass the law before the elections, so as to keep them another two years in power. It is not unlikely that this policy, persisted in, will lead to a revolution, and already it is reported as an open secret that Generals Crespo and Villanueva and Doctors Munoz Tebar and Rojas Paul and other leading statesmen have effectd an agreement by which they pledge themselves to oppose the retention of Dr. Andueza Palacio in power. How these acute political differences will end it is hard to say. A revolution is probable unless Dr. Palacio and his ministry retire from the contest."

Turning to the newspapers of Venezuela I find that they are criticising the ministry pretty freely. El Partido Democratico, of the state of Los Andes, says:—"In noticing the obvious bad faith with which the ministerial press attempts to combat our effortsto promote constitutional and liberal principals, and in reading their effusions conceived in the style in use in taverns, we perceive calumny and envy boldly advocating imprisonment and persecutions for the party whose 'atrocious crime' consists in their defence of constitutional principles."

El Radical, of Caracas, asks:—"Will Dr. Andueza Palacio go so far? We do not believe it. The party with legitimate aspirations who are true to the republic in their loyalty and independence ought to be on the alert against any idea of continuismo or interinaria which comes from false suggestions or an obstructionist policy."

The organ of the university students in Caracas, El Caracter, thus writes:—"Nations have at times to pass through fatal epochs. We observe in Venezuela nowadays a want of regularity, of order and of discipline in every public department. Correspondence by post is regularly intercepted and the press is being gagged. Concessions which were refused by congress before are now being granted. The country is losing a large portion of its territory. A scurrilous and insolent press is maintained from the public funds. Leading men are being banished. Presidents of states are being forcibly detained in the capital of the republic, the autonomy of the states is being violated, vice is protected; the public funds are squandered in junketing and meanwhile acts of usurpation are being committed by the government."

CHARGED WITH ARSON

New York, Dec. 28.—Mrs. McGoey and her husband William were arrested last night, charged with having attempted to burn the three-story tenement, 319 East Thirty-first street. The husband was paroled for further examination. In the store the police found a pile of rags saturated with oil.

DIPLOMATIC MERCHANTS.

How They Got Pay for Stolen Goods.

They Simply Called the Thefts Irregular Transactions and Charged Up the Amounts to the Beneficiary.

New York, Dec. 28.—Semon, Bache & Co., glass importers and dealers at Greenwich and Vessey streets, have just succeeded in forcing a restitution for a lot of glass taken from the store without the formality of payment.

A porter who had been in their employ for about three years began sometime last spring to make advances to certain small dealers in glass, offering to put upon the trucks they sent for regular orders an occasional box, for which he was to receive the uniform price of $1 per box, regardless of the value of the stuff, which might be $2, or $3, or $5, or $6.

He found customers, it is charged, in Louis Weinberg, who has a place at 98 Canal street in the basement and in Rutgers street, from which he sells stock to "glass-put-in" journeymen, and in Morris Blesky, a Long Island City dealer in the same line. A floor foreman in Semon, Bache & Co.'s discovered the conspiracy, and for keeping his eyes shut was given a share of the stealings. It was not until early this month that Semon, Bache & Co. discovered the thefts, and then, instead of proceeding criminally, they acted diplomatically. Assuming that the "business" was merely "irregular," they charged Blesky and Weinberg sums which they thought would cover the extra boxes. The parties accepted the statements and succeeded in nearly settling with Semon, Bache & Co. In this way Weinberg paid $4,200 and Blesky about $1,000. The porter and foreman disappeared.

COURT MARTIAL.

GONE FROM THIS EARTH.

Death of Dr. J. M. Shoemaker, of Napoleon.

A Much Respected and Well-Known Citizen Closes His Career of Toil—Pneumonia the Cause.

Napoleon, O., Dec. 28.—(Special)—This city has been thrown into a state of sadness never before felt here by the announcement of the death of Dr. John M. Shoemaker.

He was a man of unusually sunny disposition, and clustered around him were all the characteristics that conspire to make a man beloved by his fellow men.

His death occurred Sunday morning at 3 o'clock, from pneumonia, contracted while in the pursuit of his duties.

Dr. Shoemaker was married in 1863 to Sadie Heller, sister of Hon. S. M. Heller, and has one daughter, Mrs. Richard Cahill, of Napoleon. Mrs. Shoemaker is today reported quite ill with pneumonia.

Dr. J. M. Shoemaker.

John M. Shoemaker was born in Columbiana county, Ohio, February 11, 1834. He read medicine in the office of Dr. R. J. Hagerty, of Mount Blanchard, O., and attended the medical department of the university of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, from which he was graduated in the year 1859.

He practiced for a short time at Mount Blanchard and at Van Buren, O., and came to Napoleon in 1861.

In 1864 he entered the army as assistant surgeon of the Seventy-first infantry, but was detailed as acting surgeon of the First Illinois light artillery.

He marched with Sherman to the sea and also took an active part in the Georgia campaign. He then returned to Napoleon and resumed the practice of his profession.

Dr. Shoemaker is a member of the American Medical association, the Ohio State Medical society, the Toledo Medical society, and was a former member of the Indiana Medical society, and the Northwestern Medical society, both of the state of Indiana.

In the year 1863 Dr. Shoemaker was appointed, and has since held the position, of examining surgeon for pensions.

HE CAME OVER TO LEARN.

M. Paul Deschanel Has Arrived in New York.

He Comes to Study the Social Question.

Foreign Countries Have Much to Learn, He Says, from the Workingmen in the United States and Their Organizations.

New York, Dec. 28.—M. Paul Deschanel, the distinguished member of the French chamber of deputies, who comes to America charged with a special mission by his government, arrived in New York yesterday on board La Champagne.

M. Deschanel proposes to spend several months in the United States, traveling through various states, studying the great socialistic and labor question of the day. He comes with letters of introduction to prominent men all over the country, who will assist him in his task.

A correspondent had a pleasant conversation with M. Deschanel last evening. Coming to socialistic questions, he asked M. Deschanel if he believed the civilized world was on the eve of a great social upheaval.

"I do not doubt at all that the civilized world is rapidly approaching, if it has not already reached a period which will give birth to such a crisis as was the French revolution, or perhaps to even a greater crisis.

"It is because we recognized the gravity of the situation that such men as myself are making our strongest efforts to understand the rights and the wrongs of the laboring classes with a view of giving them at least a measure of what is their due."

"Have you any sympathy with the extreme ideas of those who advocate a redistribution of wealth and reapportionment of land?"

"Oh, dear," exclaimed M. Deschanel, "I hope you do not take me for a socialist. The utmost I would advocate would be certain modifications in the laws of succession and a few other measures of that moderate nature. Foremost among these I would place certain measures relating to arbitration between capital and labor. You in the United States have much to teach us regarding that happy solution of all sorts of labor complications."

"What detailed plans have you for improving the condition of the laboring classes in France?"

"Ah," answered M. Deschanel, smiling, "you must not ask me that. I am in America not to teach, but to learn in all regards organized labor, and the rights and interests of labor as against capital. When I get ready to make my report to my government I shall have much to say as the result of observation and acquaintance in the United States. At present I am a few hours off the steamer and am more disposed to listen to American labor reformers than to talk myself."

M. Deschanel reads but does not speak English.

THOMAS ALLCOCK.

Death at Seventy-Seven Years of Age of An Honored Union General.

New York, Dec. 28.—Gen. Thomas Allcock died at his residence in this city last evening.

He was born in Birmingham, England, and was 77 years old. On the breaking out of the rebellion he was made assistant general adjutant under Gen. Yates and helped to organize the Fourth New York heavy artillery with which he went to the front as a major.

He served through the war and was made brigadier general for bravery in the field. He was the inventor of the porous plaster that bears his name. His death resulted from an apoplectic stroke yesterday. He leaves two sons and two daughters.

BIG BLAZE IN BOSTON.

Half a Million Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

A Stubborn Conflagration Finally Controlled.

Many Firemen Injured by Falling Walls and Overcome by the Sickening Smoke of Burning Feathers.

Boston, Dec. 28.—The most destructive fire which has raged in this city since the Thanksgiving day blaze of 1889, occurred last night. It was of a somewhat extended area and for a time threatened millions of dollars' worth of surrounding property.

The total loss is about $500,000. The structure burned was the four-story and a half brick building with free stone trimmings with a frontage at 133 and 135 and at 141 Federal street, the rear forming a continuous structure on Federal court with a side frontage of 50 feet on Milton place.

It is owned by the Revere heirs and is damaged to the extent of $125,000. Fully insured. The portion of the building with a fronting at 141 Federal and with a rear side fronting on Milton Place was occupied by Parker, Holmes & Co., shoe jobbers, whose loss is about $150,000. Fully covered by insurance.

The portion with a frontage at 133 and 135 Federal street was occupied by Hosmer, Codding & Co., boot, shoe and rubber jobbers, whose loss is estimated at from $200,000 to $225,000. Well, but not fully insured.

The fire seems to have originated in Parker, Holmes & Co.'s basement. Its cause is not known. The first alarm was given at 7:30 p. m., the second at 8:10 and the third at 8:17.

By 11:30 the fire was under control so far as the danger of its spreading was concerned. The dense smoke caused by the burning leather and rubber goods rendered the fire an extremely dangerous one to fight. Many firemen were injured, the following being the list:

Chief Engineer Weber, bruised on the legs and hurt internally.

District Chief Eagan, Daniel Stevens, Lieut. Joseph Smith, of chemical No. 2; Edward Sparrow—overcome by smoke.

J. T. Gillbride, ladder No. 8, cut in thigh.

M. R. Joy, ladder No. 15, dislocated ankle.

George W. Thompson, of No. 1, cut with glass.

John B. Ellery, of engine No. 6, and John Mahegan, engine 26, taken with hemorrhage.

DOINGS IN FINDLAY.

The Charity Ball the Coming Social Event.

The Public Building Bill Which Mr Hare Will Introduce Discussed by the Citizens.

Findlay, Dec. 28.—(Special)—Christian Garter, of Biglick township, the new democratic member of the board of county commissioners, will take the oath of office and assume the duties early next month. He succeeds C. W. Brooks, republican. This will make the board democratic again.

Steel Car Wheel Plant.

The material will soon be received here from the east for the additional buildings for Findlay's new steel car wheel plant, to be established in the south end of the city, by the Wellington Manufacturing company, of New York. The company is under contract to furnish 5,000 wheels by the middle of March. The new plant will give employment to a large number of skilled workmen.

Charity Ball.

The big society event this week will be the charity ball at National hall on New Year's night, given by the young ladies for the benefit of the new city hospital and Home for the Friendless. Over 500 tickets have been sold or will be by that time. This will net a handsome sum for the worthy institution.

Will Resume.

Parties interested in the Ohio Window Glass company have leased the Union Window Glass company at West Park, and they will commence on Wednesday blowing glass and continue the balance of the present fire.

Public Building.

Congressman Hare, of this district, sent the bill for Findlay's new public building here to the citizen's committee for approval and correction. The bill calls for an appropriation of $100,000 for a suitable government building in Findlay. The committee returned the bill and enough data and truthful statistics showing the wonderful growth of the postal receipts for the past four years in this city that will certainly have weight with the proper committees. It is to be introduced soon after the convening of congress after the holiday recess. No city in the country, with actual facts, could make a stronger showing for the appropriation. Success to him say the citizens of Findlay.

More Gas Wells.

The Findlay Street Railway company is drilling a gas well on their property on the bank of the Blanchard river to secure fuel enough for their electric car power station. The location is good for a large well.

The Neff Lumber company have a well near the sand on their property nearly directly across the river from the famous old Karg well.

The city gas supply during the present cold snap is O. K. The factories and all private consumers have an abundant supply.

To Be Married.

Charlie Saunders, a popular young mail carrier, is to be married on New Year's eve to Miss Cora Augstead, of Hunkle avenue.

Quitting Business.

During the past few days a number of tough rum shops out in the suburbs of the city have gone out of business, the proprietors claiming there is no profit in the business owing to dull trade. There are still about one hundred left, which is enough to supply the demands.

THE BODY FOUND.

John J. Fallon, the Toledo Traveling Man,

Discovered Floating in the River at Blissfield—Justice of the Peace Decides He Was Laboring Under Fit of Insanity.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of John J. Fallon, salesman for Arbuckle, Ryan & Co., this city, has been cleared. After a long search the body of the missing man was found in the Raisin river, at Blissfield, about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The body was near the bank, about 100 feet from where his hat was found, and from appearances he had made a desperate effort to get out of the icy water. Messrs. E. J. Gifford, F. Swinn and E. H. May, employes of the Arbuckle & Ryan company, together with Detective John Manley, were at Blissfield conducting the search, and they looked after the body and the man's effects.

An inquest was held by a justice of the peace, and a verdict rendered of death by drowning during a fit of temporary insanity. This seems the only possible cause for the man's death, as no marks of violence could be found. Fallon was a sober, industrious man, and his books are straight, so that there was no cause for suicide.

The body was brought to this city at 11 o'clock Saturday night, and taken to Couldwell's undertaking establishment. The funeral occurred this afternoon.

Mrs. Fallon and the family have the sincere sympathy of their friends in the sudden bereavement which has come upon them. Mrs. Fallon is very ill, and the shock of her husband's death may prove very serious.

Foreigners Suspected of Being Spies.

Two Men Who Have Been Acting Very Suspiciously Placed Under Arrest at San Francisco.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—An officer on Gen. Miles staff, whose regiment is stationed at San Francisco, received a telegram from a brother officer last evening announcing the arrest by that city yesterday of two foreigners, one a Spaniard and the other a native of Chili.

They were arrested on a charge of vagrancy which probably cannot be sustained, as each is well supplied with money and the possessor of an elaborate wardrobe.

Occasional trips that the pair made down to the harbor and the fact that upon such trips they always carried a compass and were frequently seen to be making what seemed to be a surreptitious survey of the harbor, particularly in respect to that portion contiguous to the navy yard, caused their action to arouse some comment among army and navy officers, and it was decided after consultation with the civil authorities to place the strangers under arrest and by means of a trial for vagrancy try to force information that will lead to revealing the real object of their visit to San Francisco.

Many advance the opinion that the prisoners are Chilian spies.

THE BIGGEST OF ALL DOLL FAIRS.

In round numbers the gross receipts of the doll fair for the benefit of the free kindergarten of Denver amounted to $10,600, and the net proceeds will be about $10,000. How creditable a showing this is for a city the size of Denver is proved by the fact that the great doll fair in New York a couple of years ago, which was so liberally patronized by the Four Hundred, only netted about $8,000. There the highest price brought by any doll was $250, which was paid for the doll dressed by Mrs. Grover Cleveland. One of the dolls disposed of at the Denver fair brought $870; two others brought upward of $400 each, and a large number exceeded $200 apiece.—Denver Republican.

CHALK TALK.

The First Baptist church is in the hands of the non-partisan W. C. T. U. to-day and this afternoon Mrs. Bailey, of Chicago, is giving a most interesting "chalk talk" there to a good-sized audience. The entertainment will be repeated this evening at the same place.

THE NICKEL SAVINGS STAMP.

The state inspector of building and loan associations has requested Secretary, of the People's Building and Loan association, to forward to him statistics of the Nickel Savings Stamp department of that association, to be added to a compilation which is to be incorporated in his annual report.

NEW F. & P. M. TIME TABLE.

The management of the Flint & Pere Marquette railroad has issued a new time table. No trains are scheduled into Toledo, but this point is reached via Detroit and the Michigan Central road, by all trains except two, one each way, which connect with the Lake Shore at Morrow.

SUDDEN DEATHS.

Ed Mallory, aged 11 years, living at the corner of Comstock avenue and Locust street, died suddenly of brain trouble Saturday.

Frank Roberts, aged 39, whose home is on the corner of Beacon street and Canton avenue, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease. The coroner was called in both of these cases.

TERRIBLE AFFAIR.

A woman named Lizzie Mills had a miscarriage Friday morning and the five-months foetus was left in a basket in the hallway of the house until discovered last evening by Patrolmen McLain and Hassenzahl. The stench from the little body was terrible and the coroner was at once notified, and he turned it over to Undertaker Semn for burial. The woman is very low and may die from the results.

BONDS TO BE OFFERED.

The council committee on ways and means will make an effort to sell several lots of improvement bonds to-night, as follows: St. Clair street Madison to Monroe, $14,050.70; Horton street, Woodruff to Bancroft, $5,903.37; Michigan street, Washington to Lafayette, $2,223.41; Fulton street, Bancroft to Ashland, $5,700.00; Maplewood, Monroe to Virginia, $13,000.00.

THE CONSOLIDATED SUED.

In common pleas court to-day Rudolph Yunker sued the Consolidated Street Railway company to recover $20,000 damages for personal injury. The plaintiff states in his petition that, while driving one of the company's cars on Washing street, September 7, 1890, the harness broke and the horse ran away, jerking him over the dash, breaking his hip. He alleges that the harness was rotten.

GAMBLERS RAIDED.

The faro rooms run by John Mills, over Eckenrode's saloon, on Summit street, were raided last night, and several were arrested besides the proprietor. They were Charles White, Harry Knox, John Harden, James White and John Dern, all charged with gambling. Mills put up $100 bail and the others $15 each, all of which was forfeited in police court this morning.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SCHULTHEIS.

The funeral of Mrs. John Schultheis took place from St. Francis de Sales church this morning, and notwithstanding the early hour, was largely attended. Rev. Dr. Quigley officiated at solemn high mass. The remains were taken to St. Francis de Sales cemetery where they were interred. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, and bore striking testimony of the love and respect in which the good lady was held.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Another case where coal oil kindling proved fatal occured Saturday afternoon in the old Barnes block, East street, East Toledo. Mrs. Elizabeth McCune attempted to start a fire with kerosene and an explosion resulted, setting her clothing on fire and burning her to a crisp before aid reached her and death followed imediately. The coroner viewed the remains and rendered a verdict in accordance with these facts. Mrs. McCune was 43 years old.

RAILWAY APPOINTMENTS.

Henry Marshall, manager of the joint rate inspection bureau of this city, has resigned to accept a more lucrative position. L. R. Tappan, chief clerk, has been appointed to fill the vacancy, and C. H. Weed, formerly inspector, will succeed Mr. Tappan as chief clerk. Mr. Hugh Hall, formerly Wabash inspector, takes charge of the lumber association. All are worthy young men and deserving of the promotion. The changes take effect Jan. 1.

LOOKS LIKE REYNOLD VOIT.

A joint session of the city council is called for to-night to confirm the mayor's appointment of a gas trustee to succeed Clarence Brown. It is understood that Mr. Reynold Voit is the appointee of Mayor Emmick.

After the joint session the board of aldermen will meet and consider a fair schedule of business. The most important matters to come before them are the resolution to advertise for proposals to collect garbage and the annexation ordinance.

WILL SOON TAKE HOLD.

The county officials recently elected will enter upon the duties of their various offices January 4. Sheriff Stuart and Coroner Beckwith to-day filed their bonds with the county commissioners, which were accepted and approved.

The sheriff's bond amounted to $40,000, with H. Hook, Joseph Flynn, John George, John Bladin and V. H. Ketcham as sureties.

The coroner gave bond in the sum of $5,000, with Calvin A. Chollet and Sanford W. Cook as sureties.

KIESLING FROM BUCYRUS.

The Bee announced the discovery of a body in the creek a few days ago, there being nothing about the same to identify it. The Bucyrus Forum has the following concerning the victim:

Last night Charles Kiesling received a dispatch from Toledo announcing the death of John Kiesling. When or where the demise occurred was not stated, but it is suspected the unfortunate young man died in the insane asylum. Some time ago he was adjudged insane, the official act being brought about by Emanuel Albright, who, it is claimed, was stabbed by Kiesling one Saturday night with a pocket knife. After being taken to Toledo he escaped from the institution, and this telegram was the first information received of him since. Charles went to Toledo this morning after the remains.

INVESTED $100.

For some weeks an effort has been made to secure a lot and the necessary funds to erect a mission in the neighborhood of the Spring street school buildings, and among the gentlemen appealed to was Mr. Arthur F. Bissell, the owner of a large tract of ground in the neighborhood. His representative in the city, Mr. O. B. Snider, laid the matter before Mr. Bissell, and on Christmas day a check for $100 was received by Mr. Snider, which was handed over to the superintendent, Mr. Homer Hool. Of course, those in charge of the work are very grateful, and so express themselves. It is proper to say that Mr. Horace Walbridge, Mr. A. K. Detwiler and others have signified their intention to assist, and it will not be long before a building will be erected for religious services in this growing part of the city.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICES.

Rev. Dr. Fish, pastor of St. John's M. E. church, announced at both services yesterday that a watch meeting would be held on Thursday evening, to consist of three services. The first will begin at 9 o'clock, and will be of prayer and song for three quarters of an hour. A social for 15 minutes will follow, after which the pastor will preach a New Year's sermon, and then there is to be another social. At 11 o'clock a testimony service will be held for 45 minutes, and the congregation will indulge in another social until the arrival of the midnight hour, when the new year is to be ushered in, amid the extending of congratulations, wishes for a happy time, etc. Good music will be provided, and an evening of much pleasure and profit can be expected. The public as well as the congregation is invited.

REYNOLD VOIT

Appointed Successor to Clarence Brown as Gas Trustee.

This noon Mayor Emmick named Reynold Voit, an employe of the Libbey glass works and vice-president of the Central Labor union, as the successor to Clarence Brown on the board of natural gas trustees.

The appointment will go before the council to-night for confirmation.

WALKER'S ANSWER

To the Charges Preferred by John R. Miller.

Two Spicy Documents that Will Come Before the Ways and Means Committee To-Night.

At the meeting of the board of councilmen last Monday evening contractor John R. Miller presented a communication, making charges against Auditor Walker for not properly handling bonds. This was referred to the committee on ways and means, and a copy of it was printed in the Bee.

The committee will meet to-night, and among other matters will consider this communication, also the following answer to the charges, prepared by Auditor Walker:

To the Honorable the Committee on Ways and Means:

Gentlemen:—In answer to the charge made by John R. Miller, in a communication handed in at the meeting of the board of councilmen on the 21st inst., and which was referred to you, I beg leave to say, first, he makes distinct and positive charges of "carelessness or incompetency" in the words "our opinion," which I take it means the opinion of the firm of "The Claflin Paving Co. and John R. Miller." I am informed by one of the assignees of said firm that Mr. Claflin repudiates the assertions, and that being sick and confined to his home at Cleveland knew nothing of the charges and is not in sympathy with the proceedings; besides, I have been informed by several of the assignees of the firm that they have had no cause to find fault with the management of this office, have always been accommodated to the fullest extent possible, and are satisfied. I may perhaps add I think it is in exceeding bad taste for a member of a firm which has caused this department more trouble than all the other contractors together by forcing it to be a mere collecting agency for creditors through their having filed liens against the city for the furnishing of materials used in the contracts, and which, if not taken care of by deduction from proceeds, would, or might be, recoverable from the city.

Now I take the first item of the charges: The improvement of Washington street from Seventeenth to Collingwood avenue. The first publication giving the auditor official notice of the acceptance of an improvement, is the assessing ordinance, this for Washington street, aforesaid, appeared June 19, 1891. The final estimate of the engineer was received July 13 and passed July 20. The clerk's publication of the passage of said ordinance on July 25 and the auditor's publication for the issue of bonds, July 28, and the date fixed for the sale of the bonds August 31, but two days beyond the limit of time fixed by the statutes. Certainly no carelessness in that, and I affirm, and can prove from the records, that every set of improvement bonds have been issued about as promptly as those for Washington street. Therefore, I assert, any charge of delay in this particular is untrue and without shadow of cause.

The charge of delay in the issuing of bonds to pay for intersections I will explain as follows:

At or about the time such an amount for intersections had accumulated as would justify the issuing of bonds, the sinking fund trustees required the issue of $92,000 of general fund bonds to refund bonds due and past due, and I was directed to put through the necessary legislation authorizing the issue at 4 1-2 per cent. per annum. Now to have issued intersection bonds bearing 5 per cent. at or about the same time would have been fatal to the sale of the general fund bonds, as I had then (and still on hand) unsold bonds for bridge purposes, police patrol barn, and for sanitary purposes, bearing 4 1-2 per cent., and for which have not had bids, and the importance of the sale of general fund bonds being greater than that of the others, as the sinking fund trustees had to pay a high rate of interest for carrying the overdue bonds, in New York, and any trouble in the sale of general fund bonds would more particularly affect the credit of the city than the paying of interest on deferred payments to contractors, I hesitated to make the issue. However, after the legislation for the issue at 4 1-2 per cent. had been gone through with, the sinking fund trustees authorized an increase to 5 per cent. and the legislation again put through, and which, of course, took time. The general fund refunding bonds were issued, and as soon after as the state of the money market would permit, the intersection bonds were issued and both lots floated satisfactorily. The latter, however, were not paid for until the afternoon of December 14th, and at the next meeting of the common council, December 21, an ordinance was introduced distributing the $91,000.

It has been asserted that I should have had an ordinance to put in on the 14th. I assert it would have been impossible to have prepared it as it took all of four days to prepare the ordinance, every hour that could be spared from the current business being used for the purpose, as each item had to be examined, the records of previous legislation consulted, so that it might be without errors or mistakes.

With this explanation I respectfully request a special committee be recommended, to be appointed to examine the records of this office as to the issue of bonds for improvements, not only to verify my statements, but to see that no "carelessness or incompetency" of this office has had anything to do with the fact of the city's inability to meet some, at least, of its engagements with contractors during the past eight or nine months, and that the charges preferred are without shadow of cause.

Permit me to add; the work of this department, on account of the large amount of improvements ordered, has been taxed to its utmost endurance, yet I believe the facts will prove the duties have been performed carefully and certainly to the best of my ability.

Very respectfully,
W. T. WALKER,
Auditor.

Western Palmistry.

Highwayman—Hold up your hands. There! The life lines in your hands are contradictory. You are likely to meet with a sudden reverse of fortune. You have no liking for firearms, but have too strong a liking for money. But, then, you love your life better. This is indicated by the perpendicular lines which your forearm describes! You have no taste for tragedy. Although your will is strong conditions may arise under which you will yield to the arguments of strangers. Empty your pockets.—Life.

The New Century Club.

There was a good attendance at the regular meeting of this club on Saturday evening with Capt. and Mrs. C. T. Bateman, Eleventh street. The paper of the evening was an essay on the "Metric System," by Dr. North, a very interesting paper, illustrated with diagrams and charts. Discussion after the paper was participated in by Capt. and Mrs. Bateman, Mrs. Segur, Mrs. Cronise, Mrs. Law, Rev. Mr. Jennings, and others. Among the visitors of the evening were Mr. John M. Wheeler and Dr. Tyndal. The next meeting will be held Friday evening, Jan. 7, with Mr and Mrs A. E. Macomber, Monroe street, when it is expected Gov. Ashley will give a paper upon "The Impending Political Crisis."

Political Equality Club.

This club met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Quigley and Mrs. Murphy, Tenth street, and the attendance was the largest ever yet had at a meeting of the club. Four new members were received, and a number of visitors expressed their pleasure and interest in the meeting. After reading from "Civil Governments," the chapter dealing with the origin of counties, a parliamentary drill was had, conducted by Misses Nell Nolen, Katharine Calkins and Jeanette Olmstead and Mrs. Judge Bently, Mrs. A. E. Lang and Mrs. A. P. Stevens. The drill was upon the parliamentary methods of presenting and modifying motions. A program for conducting the club meetings was presented and adopted. It includes the parliamentary drill and regular reports at each meeting upon the doings of congress and the state legislature, the president and cabinet, and upon our foreign relations.

A committee consisting of Misses Nolen and Calkins and Mrs. S. J. Foley was appointed to prepare the drill for the next meeting, which will be held Saturday afternoon, January 9, with Mrs. Judge Bently, 435 Superior street. Hereafter the meetings will begin at 4 o'clock sharp, and close at 5:30.

Mothers' Meeting.

The mothers' meeting conducted by the ladies of the Non-partisan W. C. T. U. will be held at the Helping Hand mission to-morrow afternoon.

Cast for "School."

The four-act comedy, "School," which will be given at Wheeler's early in February for the benefit of the Day nursery, will have some of the most prominent young people of Toledo in its cast. The principal characters have been assigned as follows:

Jack Poyntz—W. K. Cochrane.
Lord Beaufoy—Ralph Wickham.
Beau Farmtosh—Dick Norton.
Mr. Krux—Malcolm Russell.
Dr. Sutcliffe—Chas. O'Brien.
Vaughan—Ed. Pixley.
Bella—Mrs. E. D. Shebel or Florence Pope.
Naomi—Miss Gussie Campbell.

There will be a meeting of the Day Nursery circle next Saturday afternoon, to consider the entertainment and other business.

The ladies of the Toledo Camera club have about completed arrangements for their reception at the club rooms, on New Year's day. Every one favored with an invitation will attend, and the reception promises to be one of the events of the season.

Social Purity Meeting.

At the Central Congregational church last evening Miss Jeannette Olmstead president of the Social Purity department of the Ohio W. C. T. U., delivered an eloquent address upon the theme of an equal standard of purity for both sexes. Mrs. C. Q. Murphy also spoke briefly upon the same subject. Rev. Dr. Bacon presided over the meeting, and between the addresses Mr. C. W. Lewis rendered a solo, "I hear the Voice of Jesus Say." The meeting was under the auspices of the W. C. T. U.

On Sunday, January 17, Rev. W. D. P. Bliss, editor of "The Dawn," organ of the Christian Socialists, will preach at Trinity in the morning, and at Grace church in the evening. Some of the clubs of the city that are studying social and economic questions should arrange for a lecture from Mr. Bliss on Christian Socialism. Rev. W. C. Hopkins, of Grace church, can furnish all information as to Mr. Bliss' engagements.

CATTLE IN BOND.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Acting Secretary Spaulding has informed the collector at Burlington, Vt., that cattle coming from Canada through Island Pond, Vt., under bond en route to Montreal, need not be inspected.

A HERALD OF THE INFANT YEAR.

Clip the last thirty years or more from the century, and the segment will represent the term of the unbounded popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The opening of the year 1892 will be signalized by the appearance of a fresh Almanac of the Bitters, in which the uses, derivation and action of this world-famous medicine will be lucidly set forth. Everybody should read it. The calendar and astronomical calculations to be found in this brochure are always astonishingly accurate, and the statistics, illustrations, humor and other reading matter rich in interest and full of profit. The Hostetter Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., publish it themselves. They employ more than sixty hands in the mechanical work, and more than eleven months in the year are consumed in its preparation. It can be obtained without cost of all druggists and country dealers, and is printed in English, German, French, Welsh, Norwegian, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian and Spanish.

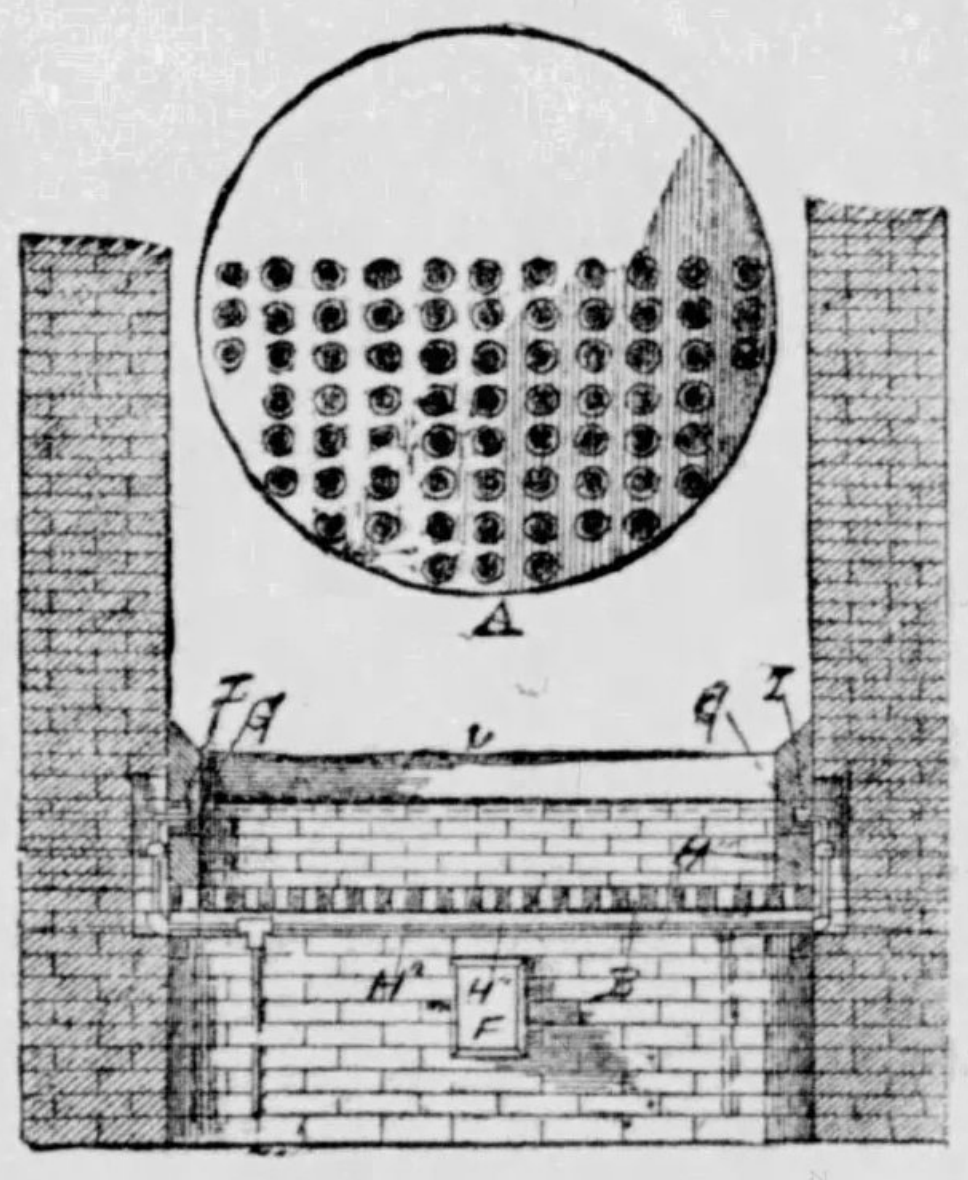
ADAMS'
NATURAL GAS BURNERS FOR STEAM BOILERS.



Toledo, O., Dec. 9, 1891.
F. T. Adams, Esq., City.
Dear Sir: We take pleasure in recommending your Natural Gas Burner for Steam Boilers, with your system of setting, as being the best we have ever seen. The flame is clear, combustion perfect, and quantity of gas required is less than with any other Burner we have seen.
Yours very respectfully,
ARBUCKLE, RYAN & CO.
Use this burner and you will want no other. Call on or address,

George Schramm, Plaintiff
vs.
James McK. Irvine, et al, Defendant.
Common Pleas Court, Lucas County, Ohio.

James McK. Irvine, Frederick McK. Irvine and Helen McK. Irvine, residing in New York City, State of New York, and Robert M. McK. Irvine, residing in Monroe, Seville county, Utah Territory, will take notice that on the 20th day of November, A. D., 1891, George Schramm filed his petition in the common pleas court of Lucas county, Ohio, case No. 32470, against the above named parties and others, praying for the foreclosure of a mortgage made by Roberta McK. Irvine, on June 27, 1887, to William Watson, on the following real estate, to-wit: That part of the west half (1-2) of the northwest one quarter (1-4) of section twenty (20), town nine (9), south range seven (7) east, lying north of Monroe street, containing forty acres more or less, in Washington township, Lucas county, Ohio, given to secure a note for the part purchase money for said premises; which mortgage was, with the note secured thereby, duly sold, assigned and transferred by said William Watson to said George Schramm, plaintiff; and on which mortgage, and note secured thereby, a balance of $464.10 is due, with interest on the same at six per cent. per annum, payable annually, from June 1st, 1890.

Said parties are required to answer on or before the 16th day of January, 1892, or judgment may be taken against them.

TOLEDO, OHIO, DECEMBER 28, 1891.

What with the Mexicans crowding our border, and the Chileans and all, maybe Uncle Sam has a little war-cloud of his own.

In a communication in the Commercial Mr. W. H. Maher calls attention to the fact that in 1889 Gov. Foraker ran more than 500 votes behind his ticket in Lucas county, which record does not substantiate the claim that Lucas is a strong Foraker county. This statement is undoubtedly pleasant to Mr. Flickinger but is hardly consoling to Heller, who has just flopped to the Sherman side.

Necessity is the mother of invention, to-day as surely as when the truism was first uttered. The insurance companies refused to take risks on the 20-story buildings in Chicago and a system of permanent force pipes from bottom to top of the walls, connected with water mains, similar to that in use in London, will be adopted, which, it is thought, will not only bring the buildings into favor with the Board of Underwriters, but will warrant a demand for reduction of rates.

The present treatment of the republican candidates for United States senator by republicans is simply astounding. The accusation of the use of money among members of the general assembly is not infrequent. Crimination and recrimination are indulged in and whichever candidate shall succeed, the accusation will remain unchallenged unless the legislature shall purge itself by investigation. A resolution referring the charges to the United States senate for investigation may also become necessary. Think of Sherman and Foraker being in such a boat.

When the front door bell rings during the holiday season one expects almost anybody with almost anything, but the polite young man at the door of the Vanderbilt mansion, Saturday evening, who announced to the servant that he called to demand the brains of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt for analyzation, was something of a startling novelty. His plea was in the interest of science; he wanted to see the construction of the brain of the man who was able to amass such a pile of money. He wasn't allowed to elaborate his plan, but was summarily locked up as an insane crank.

An interview with "an authority" is being industriously circulated by the administration organs to the effect that, owing to the beneficent effects of the McKinley law, the United States will very soon produce all the sugar it consumes. If to free an article of every day consumption from the tariff hindrance and pay home producers a bounty for what they are able to grow and manufacture will bring about such remarkable results, the question is asked again and again, why not place other commodities under like conditions? There is as much justice in a bounty as in the tariff tax, and direct application is more easily understood by the people. According to Mr. McKinley's own confession on the stump, that is the objection to the bounty system as compared with the tariff tax plan. The people would never submit to such discrimination so plainly defined.

The war that is now raging between the French and German advocates of free trade and protection is not without its lessons for us. One lesson is that nations which put up high bars to keep trade from coming in and going out, regard each other as enemies, even though not in a state of active hostilities so far as firing of guns is concerned. It is unquestionably true that all nations look upon our present prohibitive tariff laws as indicative of a hostile feeling on our part towards them, and that, as the "let alone" policy inaugurated under republican rule is carried to its legitimate conclusions we find we have too much of it. Hence the "reciprocity" pull-back. Hence the special provisions for exhibitors at the World's fair. Hence the ridiculous attitude of the advocates of high tariff, who now "point with pride" to the infractions upon that policy as the crowning glories of the policy.

If there is any reason satisfactory to the department of state for Minister Egan's non-attendance at the inauguration of President Montt, it might be well to make the reason public. Since the beginning of the Chilean trouble the ways of Minister Egan have been, like those of Providence, past finding out. Presumably they have been satisfactory to the administration at Washington, or Mr. Egan would have been recalled after bringing this country to the verge of war with Chile. But since at last the United States has recognized the congressional party in Chile as the legitimate government, why was our representative absent from the inauguration of its chief executive? Can it be the "jingo" policy to force a war upon this weak and unprepared sister republic? Of course Americans are brave, and ready to fight at the drop of the hat. Even so, we would a little rather be right than wrong, in beginning a fight, and Minister Egan persists in a course in which he puts us constantly in the wrong. In which course he appears to be sustained by the powers that be, at Washington.

Now there is talk of "showing off" the red men of America, or specimens of the fragments that are left of them, at the World's fair. The Chicago Press devotes a column editorial to arguing that even the population of the United States know next to nothing of their Indian kin, while residents of foreign countries know even less, and that at the exhibition should be shown what they are and how they live, "from Patagonia to Alaska." Says the Press:

> "The importance of assembling here for the progress of the world's fair representative specimens of all the Indian tribes of the continent can not be overestimated."

Is this a deep plot to kill the fair, or how must it be regarded? With anarchists so thick in Chicago that its police descend on any kind of a meeting and break it up under the impression that some anarchists are sure to be caught in it, with highway robbers stopping and robbing the United States mail in the heart of the city, and escaping with their booty, isn't Chicago likely to frighten civilized people away from the fair, without the suggested introduction of tomahawks and scalping knives? It is hard to believe the Press is in earnest. Had this suggestion come from New York its animus would be clearer.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Now the Republicans Are Talking Money At Each Other.

In Saturday's issue of the Cleveland Plain Dealer was the following paragraph in the first editorial:

"A little light is thrown upon the bold use of boodle in the senatorial contest by the latest declaration in public print by Isaac D. Smead of Toledo. Mr. Smead was one of the managers of the penitentiary under Foraker's administration and ought to know something about criminal methods. When he boldly charges, then, that Representative Flickinger of Lucas county "would vote for the candidate who would promise him the most at the last moment," his statement is entitled to much respect and consideration."

As this language was rather leading, a Bee sought Col. Smead to learn if such interesting interviews had gotten away from city consumption. To the query propounded, the Colonel replied:

"The only time I have ever been interviewed on the senatorial question was some weeks ago by the Bee. At that time I said that is was my understanding that Mr. Flickinger was favorable to the election of Gov. Foraker, and that he told me himself that he was opposed to the re-election of Senator Sherman. So far as the use of money is concerned, I don't believe that either faction is spending any money more than the legitimate expenses incident to the campaign; if they are I don't know anything about it."

"But are you not quoted as saying that Representative Flickinger would vote for the candidate who would promise him the most money at the last moment?"

"Oh, well, I don't know anything about that; I have heard a good deal said about his wanting office mighty bad, that Sherman has promised to make him minister to Germany or France or consul to some point in Africa—I don't know where and I don't care. All that I said was that he gave Judge Foraker's friends to understand that he was in favor of his election to the United States senate, and upon that statement they had implicit confidence, and if he does otherwise they have been betrayed, that is all."

All of which goes to show the very great harmony existing in local republican circles.

Promise and Non-Fulfillment.

During the late political canvass in Ohio the boast was regularly made that American tin plate would be used to roof the Pennsylvania buildings at the world's fair and that the material would be furnished by protected manufacturers without cost. But it turns out that the job is greater than was anticipated, and that with the limited output of the manufacturers the donation would be more than they could stand. They have, therefore, repudiated their promise and the state will have to pay for the roofing, getting the material quietly from England, unless the commissioners are willing to pay a special rate for "American made" tin.—Kansas City Star.

AS IT LOOKS AFAR OFF.

In the Ohio senatorial contest the Foraker men are doing all the boasting, but Sherman is likely to have the majority of the votes.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The news from Columbus that Senator Sherman is practically certain of re-election will be gratifying to the country at large. Mr. Sherman is too valuable a man to be lost to the senate. The people of Ohio by a large majority desire to have him returned, and the legislature will undoubtedly carry out their wishes.—New York Tribune.

No Peace on Earth Yet.

It is a sorry testimony to the virtues of a "vigorous foreign policy" that Christmas day should see the newspapers filled with threatening portents of war. It is folly to underestimate the increasing seriousness of the Chilian situation. If the administration does not expect war it is guilty of the gravest indiscretion in making open preparations for a struggle.—Chicago Times.

Or Like the Chilian Dispatches.

The news of the defeat of the rebels in China has been promptly followed by the news that the defeat was really a victory, and that things are looking very blue for the government. The news from China is very much of the same character as a great deal of the news we used to get from our own war, "interesting if true."—New York World.

Wait Till They Have Fireworks Foraker.

It isn't altogether astonishing to learn that Washington is anxious to see Mr. Ingalls back in the senate. He lent a dramatic and picturesque interest to the senate proceedings. As that body is now constituted, there is absolutely nobody to keep the visitors in the gallery awake.—Boston Herald.

Not Next Year.

The Washington Post publishes a table and bases an able argument on to it to demonstrate that "the administration thinks West Virginia worth looking after." Very evidently. It needs all Steve Elkins can steal and more. But Blocks-of-Five will not be trumps next year.—St. Louis Republic.

The Taste of Canadian Reciprocity.

A New York broker who has just dined off a turkey which had been kept ten years on ice as an experiment in refrigeration reports that it was perfectly preserved, but likewise perfectly tasteless. That is the sort of turkey Canadian reciprocity seems to be.—Philadelphia Record.

The Tariff is a Tax.

Perhaps no five words in the English language so inflame the republican journalists as these: "The tariff is a tax." They have denounced the phrase, derided it, denied it, but it is an argument in itself that goes to the root of this whole controversy and it sticks in the public mind.—Courier-Journal.

Strengthens Its Bad Odor.

The New York Tribune claims that the appointment of Elkins as secretary of war "strengthens the administration." It certainly strengthens the bad odor surrounding the administration because of its appointment or retention of some others of its favorites.—Atlanta Journal.

Harrison's Burchard.

In making Steve Elkins secretary of war Mr. Harrison has provided his own Burchard and his own Belshazzar feast. What Elkins did for Blaine, Harrison, by inviting Elkins to his cabinet, has done for himself.—Courier-Journal.

The Milk in the Cocoanut.

When Brother Dana has advertised his grudge against Chicago and the Columbian exposition to the full extent of the $10,000 he invested in the New York World's fair fund perhaps he will stop his growling.—Chicago Tribune.

New York's Capability.

The people of Chicago will please take notice that New York has given a fine dinner in the interest of the world's fair. The fact that New York also ate the fine dinner need not discourage Chicago.—New York Advertiser.

Everything Is Fine.

The Toledo Bee has moved into its new hive, and it is a fine one. The offices of the editors and business managers are as fine as any in the country. The Bee is a fine newspaper.—Cleveland World.

SUED FOR $50,000.

The United States Express Company Wants Its Money.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Thomas C. Platt and Chauncey P. Crosby, as representatives of the United States Express company, have begun suit against Leonard Perrin for $50,000. Perrin is the father of Phelps Perrin, and it is alleged in the complaint that he received from his son and E. W. Baker, the two men convicted of the Hurley, Wis., bank robbery, the $39,160 of the express company's money taken from the bank.

In the complaint the details of the sensational bank robbery are recounted with minuteness. The claim of $50,000 is made to cover the express company's loss, and also the detective work and the prosecution of the perpetrators of the robbery.

OUT ON A STRIKE.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 28.—The entire system of the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railroad is tied up to-day by a strike of its employes who went out last night. The trouble was caused by the discharge of a conductor for an alleged violation of orders.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That Representative Heller has got back into the Sherman fold.

That the weather man gives it out the cold snap will not last long.

That Commodore Bills is still pegging away to secure that racing yacht.

That the bulls and bears resumed business to-day after a three days' rest.

That open house will be kept by most of Toledo's social clubs on New Year's day.

That Secretary Crane will soon get to work on the preliminary arrangements for the Toledo exposition.

That attendants and patients are preparing for the masquerade party at the asylum next Friday evening.

That the Detwilers will have fine offices when the repairs are completed on the Bell building adjoining the postoffice.

That Sam Brady has placed a great attraction at Wheeler's for New Year's day, Effie Ellsler and C. W. Couldock in Hazel Kirk.

That Charley Durian, Toledo's obliging city clerk, proposes next Friday to turn over a new leaf—in the building permit book.

That city merchants are preparing for clearing sales prior to inventory time, and Toledo's neighbors can come in for bargains.

That it is enough to make a horse laugh to see Representative Flickinger classed in the doubtful list by the Foraker organ.

That the aldermen will vote this evening on the mayor's veto of the street car ordinance, and a good-sized lobby may be expected.

That a wait of 15 minutes on a switch in a car without a stove is not conducive to assisting a person to keep all the commandments.

That the public has not had a fish story from John Gunckel in fully two weeks. This state of affairs cannot last much longer, surely.

That the hotels are doing a good business, notwithstanding the fact that most of the traveling gentry are at home during the holidays.

That Jim Pheatt wishes the Ohio Yacht club rooms were located in Fremont instead of Toledo, then stag parties would be less frequent.

That the Bee's want columns speak for themselves, and give abundant evidence that the people of Toledo know a good thing when they see it.

That persons with spare money under control can find an opportunity to invest in a large batch of city bonds at the auditor's office this evening.

That one week from to-day the annual meetings of Toledo corporations will begin, and then the contemplated bank changes will be known for certain.

That Councilman Neuendorf refuses to converse with the common people since he adorned his person with a new black plug hat. He does not run for the council next Spring.

That the office of constable, made vacant by the retirement of Jack O'Brien, still remains unfilled, notwithstanding the ardent desire of a number of good republicans to fill the berth.

That the entertainment for the benefit of the Newsboys' home, to be held at Wheeler's to-morrow night, will be a first-class affair, and the managers should be liberally patronized.

That Mayor Emmick intends to appoint a citizen to the vacant gas trusteeship whose name will commend itself to the judgment of the community. Such a selection would be exceedingly appropriate just at this time.

That if the sums asked for in suits filed in the Lucas common pleas court were granted by a jury, there would scarcely be enough money in the city to settle the bills. There is nothing modest in the attorneys about fixing the amounts to be asked for.

That consumers of gas from the city line were looking around yesterday for the author of the statement that there was more gas in possession of the trustees than can be used. It was proposed to give opportunity for a lesson in ocular demonstration that he was probably in error.

That the similarity in the name of the pastors of the First Congregational and St. John's M. E. churches bothers the printers, if no one else. It is so easy to make Fish out of Fisk, and vice versa. Fortunately, there is no occasion to be ashamed of either gentleman; they are both well at the top of the ladder as preachers.

That if the Foraker men controlled the senatorial convention, why was Col. Smead turned down after his agreement to make the race, although it would be at a great sacrifice to his business interests, but which he was willing to permit for the sake of voting for the ex-governor for United States senator, as stated in his speech to the delegates?

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The London liverymen have started a subscription to buy a mansion for Prince Albert Victor and his bride.

The Rev. Noah Porter, ex-president of Yale college, was 80 years old recently. He succeeded Dr. Woolsey as president in 1871 and resigned in 1886.

John P. Richardson, of East Carroll, La., who died recently, is said to have conducted cotton growing on a larger scale than any other one man in this country. He owned 15 plantations.

There seems to be an idea out that Congressman W. J. Wilson, of West Virginia, is a scholar and adapted for scholastic work. In the last year he has been elected president of three colleges.

The discovery of an old time-table of the Boston & Albany railroad for 1842 shows that it was signed by George W. Whistler, "Engineer." This was the father of the eccentric artist Whistler.

The most assiduous if not the most critical student of the scriptures died at Earlsville, Pa., last week. His name was Levi Herbein. For the past 20 years Herbein had done nothing but read the Bible from beginning to end. He read it through 100 times.

Paderewiski's only recognized pupil is Mlle. Szumowska, whose attainments have created some stir in London musical circles. She is a young Polander, of striking personal appearance, and was educated by her parents for the medical profession.

Marie Antoinette made liberal use of the tub, putting into the water wild thyme, laurel leaves, marjory and a little sea salt. This recipe was obtained from Louis XIV's physician, Fagou, who used to recommend taking such baths, cold in winter and lukewarm in summer, to accustom the skin to stand the changes of the temperature.

As love without esteem is volatile and capricious, esteem without love is languid and cold.—Adventurer.

Good nature is the very air of a good mind; the sign of a large and generous soul, and the peculiar soil in which virtue prospers.—Goodman.

The world deals good-naturedly with good-natured people, and I never knew a sulky misanthropist who quarreled with it but it was he, not it, that was wrong.—Thackeray.

I think it must somewhere be written that the virtues of mothers shall, occasionally, be visited on their children, as well as the sins of fathers.—Dickens.

To be full of goodness, full of cheerfulness, full of sympathy, full of helpful hope causes a man to carry blessings of which he is himself as unconscious as a lamp is of its own shining.—Henry Ward Beecher.

BOB INGERSOLL'S JOKES.

One of the strangest peculiarities of human nature is the readiness with which your dearest friend will impart to you a piece of undesirable information—something that pains. He will do so every time in preference to telling something that may make you happier. While Col. Bob Ingersoll was visiting Toledo last week he was shown the roasting the Bee gave him on his letter refusing to longer subscribe for a Baptist publication. The colonel, however, is a good deal of a philosopher, and he has grown so accustomed to roastings that he may have some reasons for laughing at the like tortures which people predict for him in the hereafter.

"It is strange," said he, "how very sensitive you Christians are where your prejudices are concerned. There is not a religious publication in the country that has not consigned me to hell's fire. Of course I am not supposed to have any feelings. The members of my family have got no feelings. The poor creatures tortured by the Inquisition or burned at the stake in New England had no feeling. A man says to me:

"'Colonel, you're going to hell.'

"'There is no hell,' I say.

"And I hurt his feelings by making the statement. He is hurt to think there is no hell wherein I—his brother—shall be roasted for all eternity. Ah, charity, it seems, must continue to be preached by Christians and practiced by barbarians."

"'Mongst all your virtues I see not charity, which some call the first-born of religion, and I wonder I cannot see it in yours. Believe it, sir, there is no virtue can be sooner missed or later welcomed; it begins the rest, and sets them all in order."

And so the genial philosopher rattled on in his amusing and interesting way. Ingersoll's jokes cannot be transmitted through cold type. That

> "A jest's propriety lies in the ear
> Of him that hears it, never in the tongue
> Of him that makes it."

is not true of Ingersoll's jests. There is everything in the voice, gesture, manner and surroundings.

"And so you believe you are going to heaven?" he began, a moment later. "You do? Well, reporters, I think, deserve a heaven somewhere if it were only as a recompense for the hell they get here."

"The ——— they raise here, you mean," laughed a friend.

"No, I do not; but seriously, has it ever occurred to you that for 6,000 years before your Christ was born that none but Jews went to heaven? So your churches teach. Now did it ever strike you that if the Jews got a start of 6,000 years on heaven, that they have naturally mortgaged every throne securable? I hope you will get your best hopes realized, but I wouldn't be at all surprised if you found St. Peter to be a Jew, and he will be an uncle to you. Yes, my boy, you will have to pawn your harp before you can even enter the gates."

"Have you heard that story of the Irishman and the Jew who met after death? No? Well, it goes in this wise: They met between the two heavens—the Jewish and the Christian. Pat met Isaac half way between the two paradises.

"'Where have you been, Isaac?' asked Pat.

"'I'm looking for the old woman, and I was just over in your heaven, but there's nobody there—the place is deserted. Where are you going, Pat?'

"'I'm looking for my old woman, too. I was over in your heaven, but they don't allow women in there at all.'

"'Then there is only one thing for us to do.'

"'Only one thing.'

"So down to hades they went. Heaven is where the heart is."

"Russell Sage says his escape from the bomb-thrower was due entirely to the special intervention of Providence. Russell seems to be especially favored. Strange that Providence didn't intervene in behalf of the poor people who were killed and maimed. A gentleman told me the true inwardness of that accident. Sage is said to be the most miserly man on earth. This Norcross, it appears, was formerly a clerk with Sage. He became interested in engineering and explosives. Finding himself friendless and moneyless in New York, he turned in his desperation to his former employer, Sage. He asked not for a million and a quarter, but just a quarter—25 cents. When Sage handed over a quarter the act so astonished Norcross that he let his satchel drop. Hence the explosion."

CARTWRIGHT WON.

Close of the Walking Match in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Dec. 28.—George Cartwright, of Bridgeport, Conn., won the six-days go-as-you-please race which terminated here last night. His score was 502 miles and 3 laps.

Pete Hegelman, of New York, was second, 500 miles and 14 laps.

Glick, of Philadelphia, was third, 472 miles.

The fourth man was Herty, who had 449 miles on the board. "Old Sport" Campana had 365; Taylor 310 and Palmer 305. The contest was a financial success, and the four leaders divided about $2,000.

ED. FIELD'S CONDITION.

New York, Dec. 28.—The condition of E. M. Field this morning is much the same. He still refuses food. He arose early and after taking a small quantity of brandy he walked briskly up and down his cell and the corridor of the jail.

Yesterday his brother, Cyrus W. Field, Jr., visited him and had a long talk with him.

SPEAKER CRISP'S COMMITTEES.

After completing his committees, Speaker Crisp went to his hotel and went to bed, and the democratic party is not feeling very well itself.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Those who are curious to know where the Kansas congressmen are located in Speaker Crisp's committees, will save time and patience by looking toward the bottom of the list.—Kansas City Star.

When the people understood the work of the billion dollar congress they cried: "We object!" It is proper, therefore, that the "Great Objector," Holman, should stand at the head of the new appropriations committee.—New York World.

They will have to be judged by their work. Geographically considered, the speaker has made a very fair distribution, and in assigning the strongest men to the most important committees he has given the best possible assurance that the business of the house will be intelligently considered.—Philadelphia Times.

Henry Cabot Lodge is not on the new elections committee; he goes to the committee on naval affairs. In other words he will hereafter contrive methods for defeating the enemies of his country instead of trying to pin the south to the republican party with the bayonets of a force bill.—New York World.

A radical departure from precedent has been taken by the speaker of the national house of representatives in making up his committee appointments. New congressmen receive a much larger share of honors and responsibilities than it has been customary to allot them under the regime of Mr. Crisp's predecessors.—Boston Globe.

It is safe to say that nine out of every ten democrats in the United States are shocked by the displacement of Mr. Mills, and that if the result turn out to be a setback for tariff reform not a single member of the house, who voted for Mr. Crisp, will be able to secure a re-election, not even Mr. Crisp himself.—Courier-Journal.

Speaker Crisp has wisely placed at the head of the ways and means committee Mr. Springer, of Illinois, a man the most in sympathy with his own tariff views and with those that he was elected to represent. This is far better than any deflection from such a course in the direction of conventional courtesy would have been.—New York Telegram.

Speaker Crisp's committee appointments are not, in all respects, as satisfactory as one could have wished. From the most important committee, that of ways and means, he has taken one or two of its strongest members, and has replaced them by congressmen who are not known to be specially fitted for this class of work. The committee on coinage is given over to the control of the advocates of free coinage.—Boston Herald.

It can not be disputed that as things are foreshadowed by the make-up of the committees, omission as to tariff reform and emphasis and endeavor as to free coinage seem to be the program. Some other result may come, but the situation to-day is one of doubt and uncertainty, if not discouragement among the friends of tariff reform, of encouragement among the free silverites and the republicans. Whether Crispism is to succeed Randalism a few months will show.—Indianapolis News.

Looking to the general interests of the party and of the country at large, there will be little disposition, we take for granted, to find fault with what the speaker has done upon merely personal grounds; that is, upon the ground that some other man was better fitted and qualified for a particular place than the man who has been actually appointed. Many good and useful members, it is to be hoped, have been assigned to committees where they will be able to do good and useful work.—Baltimore Sun.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE WALRUS.

The oil of the walrus is the principal result of its chase, but this oil is inferior to that derived from seals, and less in quantity in proportion to the creature's bulk, the largest seldom yielding over 500 pounds. It is useful for the same purposes as whale oil, and the most of it goes, presumably, to adulterate that better product. No statistics are at hand, but the amount taken must still be very considerable, since all whaling vessels go prepared to save such walruses as they come across. They have special boats for the chase of the sea horse.

The hide is little valued at present in America, almost its only use being as a covering for polishing wheels and as chafing gear on shipboard. Anciently this was the material out of which the English made their ships' cables, and Othere sailed away to the Arctic seas, in the time of King Alfred, for the purpose of bringing back this necessary adjunct to the king's vessels. In Europe the hide finds a market in Russia, where it is tanned into a spongy leather, principally devoted to harness making. Formerly this supply was largely derived by Russia from Siberia and Alaska. "As long as the weather remained cold and dry the wear of this material was highly satisfactory; but woe to the 'Kibitscha' if caught out in a rainstorm! The walrus harness then stretches like India rubber, and the horses fairly leave the vehicle far behind, sticking in the mud, though the traces are unbroken."—Leslie's Popular Monthly for January.

OSCAR McCULLOCH'S READINGS.

The late Oscar McCulloch was an original as well as a useful man. He read inspiring books but had no use for dry-as-dust theological works. When he first went to Indianapolis his fame as a reader had preceded him and when he went into the leading book store there the clerk, thinking to lead him on to some books in his line, said: "We have a fine stock of theological books I would like to show you." Mr. McCulloch replied, "I never read them." He was a wide and thorough reader of helpful books. He was a student of Henry George, but Herbert Spencer was his philosopher, whose works he read and reread many times. He was fond of the old pagan philosophers, Marcus Aurelius and Epictetus, and his favorite poems were Whittier, Burns, Tennyson, Wordsworth and Matthew Arnold. He once told Myron Reed that when he felt himself getting tame and insipid he would go and read Carlisle's "French Revolution" and Dickens's "Tale of Two Cities." He was not a slovenly reader, but always read systematically and thoroughly and was not afraid to walk wherever the truth, as he saw it, lead him.

FAVORITE FRUITS.

Frank R. Stockton's pet fruit is said to be the crab-apple. Howell exhibits a preference for the pumpkin, especially in the form of pies, and James loves hothouse grapes. The flowery pomegranate is believed to be Amelie Rives' favorite and the luscious watermelon the choice of Joel Chandler Harris. Eugene Field denoted his taste in his song of the "Little Peach," and James Witcomb Riley dotes upon the persimmon just crisped and colored by the first fine frost of fall. Lafcadio Hearn loves the guava and Ella Wheeler Wilcox the banana, while Mrs. Cruger's voice is heard for the Bartlett pear and Minna Irving's for the chestnut. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

SPANGLES AND FANS.

Spangles assert themselves in fans as well as in millinery, and a new gauze fan has large, round steel, gold or silver spangles down the ribs, smaller ones covering the material. A new idea is for the gauze to be painted on the left side and have blonde let in on the right. Others have spangled gadflies, and too many glistening spanglettes can hardly be used. Feather fans are to be had much reduced in price, for the stems are made of new gold-colored, transparent bone, which looks like tortoise-shell and is half the price. They are well suited to Christmas gifts.—New York Sun.

ODD FACTS ABOUT QUILLS.

Owing to the substitution of steel pens for quill pens, other uses have had to be found for the goose quill, and now they are converted into bristles for brushes, toothpicks, fishing floats, fuses for guns, and hair-pencil holders. The last year in which the board of trade made any record of the import of quills was 1870, when 27,500,000 goose quills valued at £20,591, and 30,000 swan quills of the value of £376, were received. The quills of the swan and turkey were used for engrossing pens.—Longman's.

FACTS ABOUT THE HUMAN BODY

The average of the pulse in infancy is 120 per minute; in manhood 80; at 60 years 60. The pulse of females is more frequent than that of males.

The average height of an Englishman is 5 feet 9 inches; of a Frenchman, 5 feet 4 inches; and of a Belgian, 5 feet 6 1-2 inches.

The average weight of an Englishman is 150 pounds; of a Frenchman, 136 pounds, and of a Belgian 140 pounds.

The average weight of the brain of a man is 3 1-2 pounds; of a woman 3 pounds and 11 ounces.

A man breathes about 18 pints of air in a minute, or upwards of 7 hogsheads in a day.

The skeleton measures 1 inch less than the height of the living man.

The average weight of an adult man is 140 pounds 7 ounces.

The brain of a man exceeds twice that of any other animal.

The weight of the circulating blood is about 28 pounds.

The average number of teeth is 32. Number of bones 240.

CARLYLE'S PECULIARITIES.

The conclusion one comes to after reading the last instalment of Carlyle's "Excursion to Paris," is that he could not carry on a conversation in French. The Ashburtons must have been heartily sick of him with his "I decline to go," and his rushing out to smoke, or to the Browning's, when French visitors came. When Merimee called Jean Paul a hollow fool of the first magnitude, and found Goethe insignificant and unintelligible, it can only have been the want of a vocabulary which made Carlyle adjourn to the street with a cigar.

Carlyle's egotism was as unconscious and sublime as a child's. "I am told that he (Thiers), is jealous that I respect him insufficiently! Poor little soul, I have no pique at him whatsoever," etc. It is strange that the greatest English man of letters of this century should have found it indispensable for his contentment to belittle almost every man of real importance whom he met.—The Speaker.

QUEER USE OF A QUEUE.

An officer swallowed a fish-bone. It was a large one, and after struggling to draw it out the officer fell back in his chair, turned black in the face, and appeared to be in great danger, and, indeed, was so. Every one looked aghast, not knowing what to do. The doctor alone preserved his presence of mind. From the opposite side of the table he saw what had happened. Not a moment must be lost. Springing across the table, with one hand he opened the mouth of the unfortunate officer, with the other he seized his queue and rammed it down his throat. Away went fish-bone and every other obstruction. The young officer finished his dinner, having practically experienced the use of a queue.—Dundas of Fingask, by Mrs. Dundas.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS

Nearly every pattern of 5/A Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that 5/A Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the 5/A trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.

THE DEAD WREN.

Dead on the walk, my little wren,
Never to sing again!
Never to flit on airy wing
Amid the leaves of Spring.

Never again your mate to hear
Trilling his love notes clear,
Nor chirp him welcome, bringing food
To sate your gaping brood.

But yesterday on yonder spray
You twittered all the day;
Last night, chilled through and stunned with sleet,
You fluttered to the street.

God marks the sparrow's fall, 'tis said,
Yet here I find you dead;
What is this wondrous thing, "To Be,"
Granted to you and me?

You sang and wooed and built your nest,
And fell when He deemed best.
I sing and build in other ways
And wait the day of days.

I take you in my hand. Behold,
How still you lie and cold!
Where has it fled, the sacred flame
That warmed your tiny frame?

No right have I to say that spark
Went out in utter dark;
Infinity of nothingness
Am I, you were no less.

The Mind a million suns that lit
Made you sing and flit,
And I could rule the starry skies
Could I relight your eyes.

The next day he died.

THE LUCAS COUNTY BAR

Did Eat, Drink and Were Very Merry

At the Annual Banquet at the Boody—Interesting Toasts Appropriately Responded To—Officers Elected.

The Lucas County Bar association celebrated in fine style Saturday. The annual meeting was held in the afternoon, and the members enjoyed a banquet at the Boody house in the evening.

The annual meeting was held in the afternoon at the court house, and besides routine business the following officers for the coming year were elected:

President—Guy W. Kinney.
Vice President—H. E. King.
Corresponding Secretary—W. H. A. Read.
Recording Secretary—A. H. Coldham.
Treasurer—T. H. Tracy.
Executive Committee—Emery D. Potter, jr., J. M. Ritchie, C. A. Thatcher, Charles Pratt, H. S. Bunker, I. E. Knisely.

Resolutions were adopted thanking Hon. L. H. Pike for his services as treasurer, which office he had held for a long time, and the following new members were admitted: George B. Orwig, George A. Chase, C. F. Watts, E. R. Hiett, Charles E. Chittenden, O. L. Foster.

In the evening a number of the members with their ladies, about 100 all told, assembled in the Boody house parlors, and at 9 o'clock adjourned to the dining room, which was tastily decorated, and where Wolff's orchestra was discoursing sweet music.

Here an elegant banquet was served and highly enjoyed. The menu was an excellent one, and the service, under the direction of H. M. Mitchell, was exceptionally good.

After the coffee had been served and cigars passed to the gentleman, the company settled down for the "feast of reason" in the shape of splendid toasts.

Hon. George R. Haynes presided as toast master with much dignity, and, in introducing the first speaker, Hon. Wm. Baker, he paid a high compliment to him and the older members of the bar.

Mr. Baker's subject was the bench and bar of the early days of Lucas county. He told of his coming to Toledo in 1844, and related many incidents of the trials and troubles of the legal profession in those days. He then mentioned a number of the lawyers that practiced in Lucas county in those early days, many of whom have long since passed away, and he paid a high compliment to their memories. He spoke especially of Judge Potter and Hon. Samuel M. Young, who are still living, and suggested that the association send them congratulations.

At the close of Mr. Baker's address the chairman acted upon his suggestion, and a vote of congratulations was taken for Messrs. Potter and Young.

Mr. A. W. Scott was to have responded for "The Bench of This Circuit and County," but as he was absent, the next toast was by Judge C. S. Bentley, who spoke on the lawyer's relation to court and client. He dwelt principally upon the latter relationship, and told how sacred it is and how seldom it is betrayed. The judge is a most pleasing speaker, and his remarks were well received.

"Say" was the toast responded to by E. D. Potter, jr., and there was much expectancy as to what it meant. Mr. Potter did not disappoint them. His talk was very interesting, as he told of the different "says" to be found in the world, especially the say of the lawyer, of the judge, and of the wife. It was one of the most interesting toasts of the evening, and was highly appreciated.

Mr. Harvey Scribner, who was to have spoken for the "Ideal Lawyer," was another absentee, and Mr. Clarence Brown followed with some remarks on the jury.

His address was very witty and well delivered, but it was a most cutting sarcasm on the jury system of to-day, and he related a personal experience of his, when younger, where he had served on a jury in a breach of promise case brought by an enchanting young lady against a rich old man. After the jury had discussed the matter for several hours it still stood six to six, and finally came to a decision by a game of draw poker. This verdict was for the plaintiff, and the damages awarded were $25,000.

Mr. Charles G. Wilson responded for the ladies, and after some humorous remarks paid a high and most eloquent tribute to the women of America.

Mr. T. J. McDonnell responded to the toast, "Law or Justice." After eulogizing the profession of the law and telling of the high standard for lawyers, he closed with the remark: "Justice and mercy are the twin jewels in the crown of law. Justice is the sword of power, and mercy is the healer of its wounds."

Mr. Carl Beckham spoke for the association, told something of its organization, the good it has done and what it intends to do.

This concluded the evening's enjoyment, and the banquet broke up about 1:30 o'clock. It has been 12 years since the Lucas County Bar association has had such a social gathering, and the banquet was highly enjoyed by those present.

HOME-LOVING BEES IN AUSTRALIA.

It appears, from a letter from one who knows, that the black fellows of Australia knew long ago of the home-loving instincts of the bee, and made use of the knowledge thus: They used to wait till they spied a bee sucking honey from a flower, and then gently dropped upon his back a piece of swansdown. The bee, immediately feeling something was amiss with him, started for home, perhaps to seek a bee doctor's advice as to this strange malady. Owing to the little bit of white upon his back, the keen eyes of the natives were able to follow the insect in his homeward flight, running, of course, their hardest to keep pace with him. At last he reached his desired haven, and then the natives knew where the honey was hidden, and, of course, availed themselves of this knowledge to help themselves to as much as they wished for.—London Figaro.

ITS EXCELLENT QUALITIES

Commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, it cleanses the system effectually, thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

ALPHONSO NOT YET BURIED.

Alphonso XII., of Spain, has been dead just six years, but his body is not yet interred definitively. According to custom the royal remains rest for a time in a wierd cavern called the "Pudrido," deep in the side of the mountain which the Escurial is built. The body lies on a slab of rock near a stream of running water, waiting until it becomes mummified, and so fit to be transferred to its proper niche among the Spanish kings and their mothers in the jasper vault under the great dome of the Escurial church.

Steubenville county officials are after the club proprietors who serve spirits to their members. The Dow tax has been charged up to them, and several suits will result.

PARIS AND LILIES.

Paris alone, during the winter season, spends about $200,000 on lilies of the valley. That is a standby, and, like the white lilac, a bunch of lilies of the valley must grace some fancy table, from which, placed in one of those exquisite gilt crystal vases, it must send out its delicate fragrance. The forced winter lilies of the valley are grown from German bulbs. They are sent here looking like dried bundles of roots, and in 20 days these roots shoot out leaves and are made to bloom luxuriously. They are cultivated from April to October. But in the spring and summer we have the spontaneous lily of the valley, which is so abundant that 10 cents will buy a delicious bunch.

JOHN NATHAN IS DEAD.

He Was a Pioneer in the Circus Business.

New York, Dec. 28.—John J. Nathan, an old-time circus man, died Saturday night, aged about 76 years. He entered the circus ring about 60 years ago and for nearly half a century was prominent in the business.

He started as a rider and rose into prominence. Later he associated himself with Sands and others and under the firm name of Sands, Nathan & Co., conducted the circus that for many years bore that name.

Later he became interested with Seth B. Howes, George F. Bailey and Avery Smith. In 1872 Mr. Nathan joined forces with P. T. Barnum and for several years gave personal attention to the Barnum show.

Mr. Nathan projected and carried out successfully the Metropolitan circus, which gave exhibitions throughout Europe. In its tour of the Mediterranean ports the show occupied its own ships. It was Mr. Nathan also who first brought a hippopotamus to this country.

ANYTHING TO BEAT BEN.

Harrison's Enemies in His Home State.

The Gresham and Blaine Men Have Stirred Up a Great Row in the Ranks.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 28.—A bitter fight for supremacy is being waged in this (the Twelfth congressional district of Indiana between the Harrison and anti-Harrison factions.

The leader of the "anti's" is Mayor G. W. Wilson of this city, a member of the governor's staff. He represents the young republicans of the district, and his platform is "Anything to beat Harrison."

He is opposed by Harry C. Hanna, a young attorney, who is an intimate friend of Postmaster Higgins, and is counted for the administration.

Wilson is immensely popular, and as 90 per cent. of the republicans of this district are original Gresham or Blaine men, and with the leading republican papers of this city openly fighting Harrison, the chances of the administration candidate are slim indeed.

In this extremity Postmaster Higgins sought advice from Washington, and the answer came promptly. It was in the shape of an order to assess the federal office-holders in this district to the tune of $2,500 and to spend this money where it would do the administration the most good.

Mayor Wilson was not slow in discovering the facts as above stated, and Gresham is using the information to good advantage. It is said that several of the postoffice employes refuse to pay the assessment and say they will resign rather than be mulcted out of half a month's salary.

Postmaster Higgins, when asked about the report, refused to talk. A district convention has been called by the republicans for the 9th of January to meet in this city, when the fight will be settled.

THE HASTINGS' VICTIMS.

New York, Dec. 28.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew, H. Walter Webb, General Superintendent Voorhees and other New York Central officials attended the funeral services over the remains of the victims of Hastings accident on Christmas eve, which were held in this city yesterday.

BISHOP LOUGHLIN ILL.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Bishop Loughlin is lying seriously ill at the Episcopal residence in this city. It was feared at one time yesterday that he would not live through the day. He is not afflicted with any disease and his illness is accounted for solely on the ground of overwork.

The frog, owing to its peculiar construction, cannot breathe with the mouth open, and would die from suffocation if it were kept open forcibly.

WEARY MOTHERS

LOOK AT THIS.

Are these not healthy and bright children? Their appearance does not misrepresent them; they are both healthy and bright. They are the son and daughter of Mr. J. P. Wiley, of Dorchester, Mass., and he has an interesting story to tell in regard to them. The story is as follows:

"In 1885 my wife, accompanied by my little boy, at that time 11 months old, was visiting relatives in Scranton, Penna. The little fellow was suffering untold agony cutting his teeth. My wife was told to try Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion. The effect was magical. It did not stupefy the child, as most remedies of this character do; it simply soothed the pain of the burning and aching gums. I might write a volume, had I the time, praising this remedy, and then not express my feelings or do it justice, it is simply marvellous. After her return to Boston she wanted another bottle, but I found that it was unknown in this city. I corresponded with Dr. Hand, and received in reply a sample of each of his remedies. I used them on both my children, recommended them to all my friends, and have yet to find the person who, after using the remedies, especially Teething Lotion and Colic Cure, that could not praise them. People may say, and have said to me: 'Oh, there must be something in that Teething Lotion that affects a child's brain.' In reply to this, I will say I have two children, a boy and girl, who have been treated with Teething Lotion since time of beginning to end of teething, and I challenge any person to furnish two with any clearer brains. I cheerfully recommend them to parents who love their little ones."

A little book, illustrated, full of sense and suggestion, or sample bottle, will be sent to any one in the land, FREE.

TWO NEWSBOY GOVERNORS.

Remarkable Life Stories of Two Chief Executives.

The Chance for Becoming Great is Within the Reach of Every Boy Who Strives for It

The newsboys have a new fad says a writer in the New York World. A bright and brainy lad has orgainzed a political club and all the members are named after the big characters of the country. There is a Grover Cleveland, a James G. Blaine, a President Harrison, and so on.

"There are to be no more common, every-day nicknames in our club," said the president to the reporter. "We are all going to hold executive positions some day, we be."

"Yes, some day," chorused back the crowd of urchins frollicking around.

There was a mock session of the house of representatives held by the newsboys on the steps of the entrance to the World building mailing and distributing room last night.

An agent of the Children's Aid society happened along to look the crowd of boys over, and in a conversation with the reporter told of several cases of New York newsboys who had become prominent in after life.

"The very lads who are being called after the big men of America stand just as good a chance of becoming great statesmen as the rich man's son who lives on Fifth avenue," said he. "We have had one of our homeless boys whom we sent west to work on a farm become a governor."

"A New York newsboy a governor?"

"Yes, but I cannot give you his name. I believe that one of the officials of the Children's Aid society has just received a long letter from him."

The reporter, after careful inquiry, found the possessor of the letter from the man who at one time was a homeless waif of the great metropolis, but who is now in the executive mansion of a western state. Mr L. W. Holste, assistant treasurer of the society, gave the reporter a copy of his letter to Gov. Andrew H. Burke, of North Dakota, and the one in reply.

In this reply Gov. Burke said: "To the boys now under your charge please convey my best wishes and that I hope that their pathways in life will be those of morality, of honor, of health and industry. With these four attributes as a guidance and incentive I can bespeak for them an honorable and happy and successful life. The goal is for them as well as for the rich man's son. They must learn to labor and to wait, for 'all things cometh to him who waits.' Many times will the road be rugged, winding and long and the sky overcast with ominous clouds. Still it will not do to fall by the wayside and give up. If one does, the battle of life will be lost.

"Tell the boys I am proud to have had as humble a beginning in life as they, and that I believe it has been my salvation. I hope my success in life, if it can be so termed, will be an incentive to them to struggle for a respectable recognition for their fellow-men. In this country family name cuts but little figure. It is the character of the man that wins recognition, and hence I would urge them to build carefully and consistently for the future."

"It is a remarkable fact," said Mr. Holste, "that nearly all of the children sent west in that particular company of which Gov. Burke was a member, on August 2, 1859, have not only done well, but a number have risen to places of distinction and trust. One is now cashier of the Citizens' bank of Indiana; another, after passing through Yale college, went as missionary to Alaska, where he is now a government official and expects to be appointed a commissioner. Still another married a cousin of his employer and is now a successful Methodist minister.

"I remember Gov. Burke well. He was energetic and painstaking, and when I left him in the west his last words were: 'You wait. I'll be the governor some day.' And, true enough, he is governor, and who knows but what some day we may have a newsboy president. More improbable things have happened in this wonderful country.

"Gov. Burke was one of 75,000 children for whom homes have been provided by this society," continued Mr. Holste. "Many are now grown to manhood and womanhood. Our agents, after every trip to the west, bring back accounts of young men and women they have met who were taken west in childhood by the society and who are now foremost citizens in the energetic communities in which they live. Many of these little waifs from New York are now legislators, and one, I think, has just been elected to congress.

"Another New York newsboy who became governor is Thomas M. Waller, of Connecticut, the silver-tongued orator of the Nutmeg state and ex-consul general to London. The Grand Central was the little orphan's resort to sell his papers. His bright and winning ways attracted the attention of a Mr. and Mrs. Waller, of New London, Conn., who were about to take a train for their home. They adopted the lad and educated him. He first became famous in the battle to bridge the Connecticut river. Traffic to Boston had been ferried across the river for years and the anti-bridge faction was very strong. A signal victory was achieved by Lawyer Waller, and soon afterwards he was made governor by the democrats. He served on the national democratic committee for a number of years, and during President Cleveland's administration was sent to London as representative of the United States.

"So, when you are tempted to treat the little newsboy waif of New York roughly, think twice before you brush him aside. He may be governor, yes president, some day."

ANDREW JOHNSON'S OLD HOME.

The President's Little Tailor Shop, His Library and Other Relics.

Said an old veteran at the Leland a night or two ago: "I have read Major Truman's reminiscences of Andy Johnson with interest. I was stationed at Greeneville for awhile during the war. I remember the old dwelling house, a plain, two-story brick—that is, a one-story and basement L. six full-sized rooms besides the cook-rooms in the basement. The house had been used by both armies as hospital, headquarters and go-as-you-please rendezvous. The confederate cavalrymen used to often lead their horses in at the hall entrance and out into the rear yard. There is a fine spring which bursts from a ledge near the dwelling. Johnson's tailor shop was a short distance to the east, a frame building, such as the Tribune published, with a sign between and a little above the two windows with the simple words: 'A. Johnson, Tailor.' This sign was never touched by federal or confederate. Johnson had about 400 books, most of which the rebels had piled into one corner of an upper room in the dwelling-house. A good many of these were government books. I remember digging into this pile one day and finding two poets, Hood and Poe. I also found a Bible which showed use, as many of its leaves had been turned down and there were notes made here and there on the margin which showed that the owner had perused certain passages which he had underscored and queried. I also saw 'Parker's Aid to Composition,' Benton's works, 'Life of Andrew Jackson,' Irving's 'Washington' and Webster's dictionary. Near the tailor shop is a beautiful mountain stream and there are mountain glories all around seemingly touching the skies. I was a young man at the time and how my ambitious soul did palpitate with an inexplicable desire to be a tailor or a rail-splitter. Near the Johnson residence is that of Mrs. Williams, in whose garden John Morgan, the bold, successful Kentucky raider, met his death while attempting to make his escape. A little way from Greeneville is Jonesboro, which was the first capital when Andrew Jackson was admitted to the bar in 1788. And a little further away is Boone's Creek, and there is still an old beech-tree standing and on it is an old sign which reads as follows: 'D. Boon KILLED A BEAR on tree in YEAR 1760.' There was no man in the country so thoroughly disliked by the rebels at that time as Andy Johnson; and yet not a thing about his house or shop was harmed. But they would have hanged old Andy if they could have got him. Near Johnson's house are, or were, some fine willow trees bending over the spring, grown from slips from the Island of Elba, planted by Mr. Johnson during his first congressional term."—Chicago Tribune.

OLD-TIME WASSAIL.

The wassail-bowl of ale or wine spiced with nutmeg and ginger, sweetened with sugar and floating toast and roasted crabs has not an appetizing sound to our modern ears, though we like to hear of the "nut-brown beverage" and might the olden loving cups in which it was served. The day of these things has gone by. Frumenty, which was simply whole wheat—the same pearl wheat that we get to-day—boiled three or four hours till done, mixed with milk, and with eggs, sugar and spice added, was merely a wheat pudding. It was quite similar to our breakfast cereal of whole wheat, but with the addition of spice and raisins, and was no doubt a wholesome dish, though hardly delicate enough for modern tastes. There is hardly a workman of to-day who could relish the olden fare, and head cheese or brawn is apparently the only dish of that era that remains as it was. Our plum pudding has been remodelled by French chefs and English cooks for a plum broth to its present solid form. Our mince pies were formerly spiced mutton pies, with fruit and latter years of the nineteenth century is quite as far in advance of that of 200 years ago as are our table manners in advance of those of the time when the host passed doubtful jokes with the man in waiting behind his chair and swore at the expense when he called for another plate of cheese.

OUTWITTED BY A BOY.

Redmond O'Hanlon, the most noted of the Irish brigands, after distinguishing himself through the most daring deeds, met his vanquisher at last in a shopkeeper's apprentice.

This youth's master, having to receive a good round sum of money in Newry, was afraid to risk an encounter with Redmond or some of his gang on his return to Dundee, his native town.

In his perplexity, his apprentice, 16 years of age, offered his services, which after some hesitation were accepted.

The youth, in the words of Mr. Cosgrove, author of the "Irish Rogues and Rapparees," went to the field and brought home an old vicious screw (much of the same humor with Sir Teague O'Reagan's war-horse, on which he rode out to meet Duke Schomberg, after the surrender of Charlemont), that when any other came up to meet him on the road he always strove to bite or kick him, by which means he commonly kept the road to himself.

As he wended on his way he was overtaken by a well-dressed gentleman, with whom he freely entered into discourse, making no secret of his business, or of his expectation of being about the same place on his return to-morrow with £100 in his possession.

"I wonder," said his fellow-traveler, "you are so free in your communications with strangers; how can you tell but that I may be Redmond O'Hanlon or one of his gang?"

"Oh, oh!" said the boy, bursting out laughing, "such a nice-looking gentleman as you to be a robber! Do you think I haven't eyes?"

"Well, at all events, I advise you to be more discreet. Redmond is famous at disguises, and will pin you if he gets wind of your business. Here's a crown for you to drink my health, but keep a bridle on your tongue."

The grateful youth, sobering at once, made the promise.

And even as the boy expected, the gentleman overtook him as he was returning next day, and the conversation was resumed.

"Well, my boy, I suppose from your looks you have not met with any bad company, and your money is safe?"

"Indeed it is, sir; many thanks for your good advice."

"How are you carrying it?"

"In two ends of this ticket wallet."

"Dear me! I would like to feel the weight of it out of curiosity," and he approached, but the horse lashed out, and he was obliged to keep his distance.

"Throw over that wallet," he said rather sternly for such a nice looking gentleman.

"Oh, sir, honey, sure you wouldn't rob me! What would the master say?"

"I don't know, but this is what I say: If you don't surrender it at once I will send a bullet through you, and another through your garran."

"I promised my master not to let myself be robbed till I was in danger of my life. Here is the money; but you must take the trouble of crossing the ditch for it."

So saying he heaved the bag over the slough that bordered the road and the hedge beyond it into the next field. This annoyed the highwayman, but, judging the prize worth the trouble, he dismounted, scrambled over the dike and fence higher up, and laid hands on the bag.

Hearing a clatter he raised his head, and, looking over the fence, saw the innocent youth making the road to Dundalk short on his own (Redmond's) good steed, and the vicious beast prancing about on the road and longing for some one to fly at.

He was enraged for being so taken in, but much more when he found the two ends of the precious wallet containing nothing more valuable than the copper half pence of the time.

The boy arrived safe in Dundalk with the hundred guineas quilted into his waistcoat.

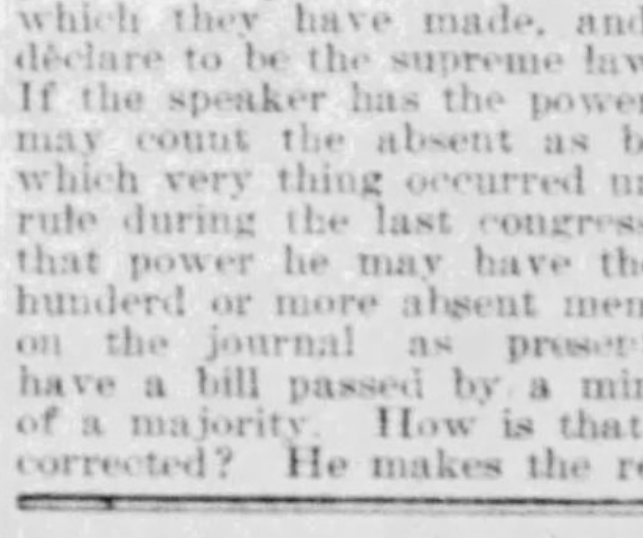
After many escapades from armed foes and from prisons, O'Hanlon was treacherously killed by his own foster brother for the sake of the reward, an almost unprecedented crime in his country.—Boston Globe.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A QUORUM.

This has been the uniform construction of the constitution for a hundred years.

No speaker from the First to the Fiftieth congress ever held otherwise. Speaker Reed himself, prior to the last congress, held the same view as all his predecessors.

In 1880, when this very question was before the house, he said: "The constitutional idea of a quorum is not the presence of a majority of members of the house, but a majority of the members present and participating in the business of the house. It is not the visible presence of members, but their presence and their votes, that the constitution calls for." He never gave expression to a different view until party exigency demanded revolutionary methods to stay the fleeting fortunes of that party of which he was a distinguished leader. Then with a breath he swept away the settled law of a century. The Hon. Geo. M. Robeson, another distinguished and able leader of that party, said in the same debate: "It is necessary, under the constitution, that a majority shall be present doing business before there is a quorum of any kind, and no rule can make it otherwise." Such has been the interpretation of all parties in the country from the origin of the government to the present time. If the uniform construction of a century can settle anything, it is settled that a majority to do business is the majority of the whole house attending and participating in the business. The position is too clear and too long settled to remain in the domain of controversy. It is contended that the speaker, to meet the constitutional requirement of a quorum, may count the members present not doing business as present doing business. That is, he may nullify the constitution. If he has the power he may, at his discretion, use it or abuse it. This is not a government where rights of the people depend on the discretion of any one man, but upon the laws passed in pursuance of the constitution which they have made, and which they declare to be the supreme law of the land. If the speaker has the power to count, he may count the absent as being present; which very thing occurred under this new rule during the last congress. If he has that power he may have the names of a hunderd or more absent members entered on the journal as present, and thus have a bill passed by a minority instead of a majority. How is that wrong to be corrected? He makes the record, and as he makes it it stands, whether true or false; and a bill so enacted would not be a law passed in obedience to the constitution, but, like the laws of many European assemblies, one passed by a rump.—The Hon. Roger Q. Mills, in North American Review for January.



Set right—all the proper functions of womanhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the remedy. It regulates and promotes their action, and removes the obstructions and suppressions which cause trouble and misery. At the two critical periods in a woman's life—the change from girlhood to womanhood, and, later, the "change of life"—it is a perfectly safe and an especially valuable remedial agent, that can produce only good results.

It's a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a soothing and strengthening nervine; a legitimate medicine—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless—and carefully adapted, by an experienced physician, to woman's delicate needs.

For all the derangements, irregularities, and weaknesses peculiar to the sex, the "Favorite Prescription" is a remedy so certain that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't give satisfaction in every case, the money is returned. No other medicine for women is sold in this way. No other medicine can be.

HORROR OF DEBT.

A Sermon for Young Men Written Long Ago by Horace Greeley.

To be hungry, ragged and penniless, is not pleasant; but this is nothing to the horror of bankruptcy. All the wealth of the Rothschilds would be a poor recompense for a five years' struggle, with the consciousness that you had taken the money or property of trusting friends, promising to return or pay for it when required, and had betrayed their confidence through insolvency.

I dwell on this point; for I would deter others from entering that place of torment. Half the young men in the country, with many old enough to know better, would "go into business"—that is, into debt—to-morrow, if they could. Most poor men are so ignorant as to envy the merchant or manufacturer whose life is an incessant struggle with pecuniary difficulties, who is driven to constant "shinning," and who, from month to month, barely evades that insolvency which, sooner or later, overtakes most men in business; so that it has been computed that but one in twenty of them achieve a pecuniary success.

For my own part—and I speak from sad experience—I would rather be a convict in state prison, a slave in a rice-swamp, than to pass through life under the harrow of debt. Let no young man misjudge himself unfortunate, or truly poor, so long as he has the full use of his limbs and faculties, and is substantially free from debt.

Hunger, cold, rags, hard work, contempt, suspicion, unjust reproach, are disagreeable; but debt is infinitely worse than them all. And, if it had pleased God to spare either or all of my sons to be the support and solace of my declining years, the lesson which I should have most earnestly sought to impress upon them is: "Never run in debt! Avoid pecuniary obligations as you would pestilence or famine. If you have but 50 cents, and can get no more for a week, buy a peck of corn, parch it, and live on it, rather than owe any man a dollar."

Of course I know that some men must do business that involves risks, and must give notes and other obligations; and I do not consider him really in debt who can lay his hands directly on the means of paying, at some little sacrifice, all he owes. I speak of real debt—that which involves risk or sacrifice on the one side, obligation and dependence on the other—and I say, from all such let every youth humbly pray God to preserve him evermore!

$10,000

will be paid for a recipe enabling us to make WOLFF'S ACME BLACKING at such a price that the retailer can profitably sell it at 10c. a bottle. At present the retail price is 20c.

This offer is open until January 1st., 1893. For particulars address the undersigned.

ACME BLACKING is made of pure alcohol, other liquid dressings are made of water. Water costs nothing. Alcohol is dear. Who can show us how to make it without alcohol so that we can make ACME BLACKING as cheap as water dressing, or put it in fancy packages like many of the water dressings, and then charge for the outside appearance instead of charging for the contents of the bottle?

GAS AND ELECTRIC LIGHT TAXES, AND SPECIAL IMPROVEMENT ASSESSMENTS, NOT INCLUDED IN ABOVE RATES.

Any person charged with taxes on the duplicate of the county may at his or her option pay the full amount of such taxes on or before the 20th day of December, 1891, but is REQUIRED BY LAW to pay all the regular road tax, ALL FORMER DELINQUENT TAXES, and one-half of all other taxes and assessments charged on the duplicate of 1891, on or before the 20th day of December, 1891, and the remaining half on or before the 20th day of June, 1892.

Prompt payment should be made to avoid the FIVE PER CENT. PENALTY IMPOSED BY LAW ON ALL TAXES NOT PAID BY THE TIMES SPECIFIED ABOVE.

All persons having failed to pay their taxes last June will see that they are paid before the 20th day of December, so that their property may not be ADVERTISED AS DELINQUENT and offered for sale on the third Tuesday in January next, and thereby save trouble and expense.

If the tax on the real estate is not paid during the December collection, the same will be charged with the penalty required by law, and the amount, together with the other half of said tax, must be paid by the 20th day of June, 1892. In case of failure to pay the December payment of taxes on personal property, then the whole amount [illegible] penalty, and the Treasurer is required to collect by distraint or otherwise.

Tax payers [illegible] their last receipts. All road receipts must be presented during the payment of December tax, as they cannot be taken afterwards.

OFFICE HOURS: 8 A. M. TO 12 M. AND 1 TO 4 P. M., SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS EXCEPTED.

SAMUEL A. HUNTER, County Treasurer.

Treasurer's Office, Toledo, Ohio, November, 1891.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

London wheat markets inactive; corn quiet. Weather milder. Liverpool wheat steady, but dull; corn shade easier.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 717,595 bu, compared with 614,829 bu on the same day last year.

The output of flour at Minneapolis was 201,791 bbls, against 139,461 bbls in 1890 and 140,640 bbls in 1889. Shipping facilities very limited. Flour trade very quiet. Foreign bids lower.

The capacity of freight cars has grown, like everything else. The maximum is now 60,000 pounds, and the average 50,000 pounds. Fifteen years ago the limit was 20,000 pounds.

Distances Saved by the Nicaragua Canal.—From New York to San Francisco it will save 10,753 miles over the sailing route and 8,267 over the steam route; New York to Hong Kong, 3,058; New York to Yokohoma, 5,960; New Orleans to San Francisco, 9,392; Liverpool to San Francisco, 5,867, and Liverpool to Yokohomo, 2,583. It will benefit the Pacific slope by reducing the present heavy railroad freights. It will benefit the east by giving it easy access to the markets on the west coast of South America.

English Crops.—The English board of agricultural returns for 1891 show the production of wheat during the year to be 72,127,263; barley, 72,129,695 bu; oats, 112,386,261 bu. In 1890 the production was: Wheat, 73,354,484 bu; barley, 73,933,801 bu; oats, 120,188,046 bu. The grain crops of 1891 have been generally inferior in quality and condition, and an unusual proportion has been shed in the fields. There was some surprise in the trade that the total wheat yield of this year should fall short of last year by but 1,227,000 bu, and the bears tried to make capital out of it without success.

Business failures in the United States and Canada for the week were 292, against 335 the previous week, and 333 for the corresponding week in 1890.

Philadelphia's Export Trade.—Philadelphia, Dec. 23.—Another new steamship line has been added to the number already established during the past year. The vessels will ply between Hamburg and Philadelphia, and George E. Bartol & Co., who have started the line, report its success seems already assured.

Philadelphia's Export Trade.—Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—Another new steamship line has been added to the number already established during the past year. The vessels will ply between Hamburg and Philadelphia, and George E. Bartol & Co., who have started the line, report that its success seems already assured.

Bradstreet's Report of Exports.—Exports of wheat from the United States this week (including flour as wheat) for five days only (all of the Pacific coast shipments not received), aggregate 3,558,848 bu. Last week the total was 5,416,000 bu. For 26 weeks of the cereal year, counting the (partly estimated and partly official) exports of wheat and flour to British North America (not included in our regular weekly reports) the preliminary grand total is about 123,000,000 bus. of wheat, compared with about 52,000,000 bus. from July 1 to December 26, 1890. Exports of Indian corn are increasing sharply, amounting to 1,169,890 bus. this week, against 683,624 bus. last week. Those of oats, too, have augmented surprisingly, amounting to 1,175,018 bus. this week, as compared with 301,683 bus. in the previous week. Rye exports have declined from 507,565 bus. a week ago to 114,934 bus. this week.

Also Available Wheat.—One year ago there was only 45,510,000 bu of wheat available reported or 19,575,000 bu less than were in store east of the Rockies last Saturday. Stocks of wheat available on the Pacific coast Dec. 19, 1891, were equal to 9,788,000 bu, or 1,786,000 bu less than on Dec. 20, 1890. The total there last Saturday was 315,000 bu smaller than one week previously. Adding available wheat stocks, both coasts, one finds an aggregate for last Saturday 74,720,000 bu, as compared with 57,085,000 bu just one year previously, or 17,635,000 bu more now than then.

We are officially informed that a contract has been signed between the Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan and Green Bay, Winona & St. Paul railroads, in conjunction with Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad company, for the transportation of freight and passenger traffic between all points east of Manistee and St. Paul, Minneapolis, Minnesota, Transfer, La Crosse and Winona, thereby establishing another permanent through line between the northwest and the Atlantic seaboard via the Green Bay, Winona & St. Paul Railroad company to Kewaunee.—N. Y. Commercial Bulletin.

The export clearances since Thursday, at four Atlantic ports, are: Wheat, 229,491 bu., and flour to an aggregate of 550,000 bu. The exports of corn were 352,758 bu., and of oats 444,230 bu.

English markets as reported herein are slow, but generally unchanged for wheat, and a shade lower for corn.

The anticipations of improvement in the grain markets from the effects of the "cold snap" on the growing wheat have not materialized, by any means, and nothing else in aid of prices has materialized. Foreign markets are slow, and will continue so until next month, and we do not know of any sources from which to expect surprises unless it be in the line of "killing the crop." We presume that will be performed in regular order, on the exchanges, but meantime it is doing well. No weather has harmed it yet. It is a hardy plant. We may have said before that it is not a geranium, and we hope for good results.

The Markets To-Day.

Ocean freight in New York declined to-day equal to 1c bu.

The visible supply of wheat increased last week 1,357,000 bu. Corn 1,349,000 bu. Oats decreased 122,000 bu.

Liverpool wheat market is reported closing steady for wheat on the spot, and higher for January and May.

Paris is reported firmer on wheat and lower on flour.

Berlin reported higher for wheat.

American markets for wheat and corn have been weak and declining all day.

In New York December wheat closed 1c and May 1 3-8c lower. December corn 2 1-4c and May 5-8c lower. January oats 3-8c lower.

In Chicago December wheat closed 3-8c and May 1 3-8c lower. December corn 2c and May 5-8c lower. December oats 1-4c lower.

In Toledo the business in wheat remains inactive and without any features of interest whatever. The trading in futures was mainly for May and at prices declining from the opening, and closing at the lowest of the day. Opening trades were at $1 01 3-8 and closing $1 00 1-4, a loss of 1-8. After 'change sales were made at $1 01 1-8. December sold at 96 1-4 to 96c, and at close 95c was the price. January sold at 96 14c.

Cash wheat opened at the closing price of Thursday and declined 1-2c at the close. No. 2 soft sold at 95 1-2c, and in favorite locations at 96c, and closed at 95c, a loss of 1-2c. Rejected No. 1 at 88c. No. 1 white at 94c. No. 2 at 92c.

Corn—No. 2 at 41 1-2c; No. 3 at 39c; No. 4 at 37c; No. 3 white, 39c asked. After 'change No. 3 white sold at 39c.

Rye—No. 2 at 89c; No. 3 at 87c.

Clover seed was not much changed. On the call March sold at $5.47 1-2. After the call prime for cash at $5.40; December at $5.42 1-2; February at $5.45; No. 2 at $5.15@5.25. Timothy seed at $1.15.

LEM JONES IS DEAD.

He Died to Pay the Penalty for a Murder.

He Brained His Child and Split Open the Head of His Wife—Convicted on Two Trials.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 28.—Lem Jones was hanged at Oliver Springs this morning at 9:30 o'clock. Jones met his death for the murder of his wife and child, braining his child and splitting the woman's head open on the night of June 26, 1890.

Jones fled from the scene of his brutal crime and, disguising himself, worked as a herdsman on a Texas ranch for three months. An indignation meeting was held by the people of Cass county and a demand made on the governor for a reward.

The governor offered $200 and the citizens $300 for his delivery. Pinkerton's agency got on his track and captured him. The trial was a long one. He was sentenced for murder in the first degree in the two cases, secured a new trial and received the same penalty.

The supreme court affirmed the decision.

The prisoner was shown unusual attention while in jail on account of his prominence, he having been county superintendent of schools. He was also a deacon in the Baptist church and every effort was made to have a respite granted but the crime was such a henious one that the governor refused to favor him.

CURTIS MAY GO FREE.

No Case Against Samuel of Posen.

A Strange State of Affairs with Much Contradictory Swearing in the Western Courts.

San Francisco, Dec. 28.—The lawyers defending M. B. Curtis, the actor, say that they shall prove that the police department have all along known the man who shot Policeman Grant, but for reasons of their own do not care to bring him to justice.

They declare that the breaking down of the identification of the pistol as Curtis' weapon is complete.

Johnson, who first declared he recognized the weapon, confesses that he perjured himself. Not one of the women, the defense say, who saw the shooting from across the street, are willing to swear that Curtis was the man whom they saw running away.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

The will of Adam Hoffenner has been presented for probate.

The January term of common pleas court convenes on next Monday morning.

Frank Cheney gave each of his female help a $5 gold piece, and each of his male employes a turkey as a Christmas gift.

B. A. Stevens remembered his employes by the presentation of a turkey each. He also gave the express drivers of the city a turkey each.

The grand jury will meet next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. There are nine cases on transcript so far for investigation, aside from the original charges.

Custar division will decide at a meeting to-night whether the invitation to attend the inauguration of Governor McKinley will be accepted. Capt. Weier would like to see his boys in line.

Marriage licenses were issued to-day to the following: L. E. Day and C. L. Keith; Frederick Martin and Minnie Plagenan; Martin J. Webb and Mary M. Flager, and Thomas E. Durk and Clara A. Wentz.

Jerome P. Nevitt, the two-year-old son of Mr. Frank Nevitt, 1221 Wilson street, died Saturday of the grip. The boy, who was a sweet child and a great favorite, will be buried to-morrow at 9 a. m., from St. Patrick's church.

The Christmas services at Westminster were exceptionally fine yesterday. In the morning Mrs. W. W. Ainsworth sang a beautiful composition entitled, "Christmas Song," by Shelley. The solo was exquisitely rendered. In the evening D. Gordon Robertson sang "Christmas Song," by Adam, in true Christmas style. Mr. Robertson possesses a fine voice, and it was never heard to better advantage than last night. A female chorus gave several fine selections, and the music by the choir was very effective and beautiful.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

Two Men Under Arrest for the Minster Bank Job.

Wapakoneta, O., Dec. 28.—Deputy Sheriff Charles Nichols has arrived here from Dayton, Ohio, having in charge the two prisoners, Henry Schumacker and Abraham Held, who are charged with being accomplices in the attempted buglary of the Citizens' bank of Minster, this county, on the night of December 11th.

A large and excited crowd gathered at the depot, and when the train arrived the sheriff and his deputies met the party and the prisoners were hurried to the county jail, where they are now confined with 15 other criminals under a strong guard.

Shumacker and Held claim they are innocent and that at the proper time they will prove an alibi. The authorities, however, claim that they are now in possession of sufficient evidence to convict both parties. The preliminary hearing will be held to-morrow.

Miss Sarah Van Wormer, of Adams street, entertained last Tuesday evening at whist. Prizes were awarded to the worthy ones, refreshments served and all highly enjoyed themselves.

Lamson Bros. remembered their clerks at Christmas time with $5 gold pieces in neat little boxes. The cash boys were also remembered. This enterprising firm never fails to make the hearts of many glad at this time.

A complimentary concert will be given at Whitney & Currier's Music hall tomorrow evening. A fine program has been arranged. Following are the soloists: Miss Agnes Leckie Regal, Mr. Albert F. Bennest, Mr. C. Max Ecker and Mr. Theo. Ecker.

The lecture "Wanted by the Twentieth Century, a Man," to be given by Rev. D. M. Fisk, Wednesday evening, January 13, at the Washington Street Congregational church, is for the benefit of the church, and is looked forward to with pleasant anticipation.

Miss Lizzie Hialy, of 540 Oakwood avenue, gave an elegant Christmas dinner to the family and friends, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Lawrence, of North Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Leap, of Perrysburg; Mrs. K. Knox, of 706 Madison street, and Mr. C. E. Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. N. Tracy, of East Toledo, gave a charming reception Saturday afternoon from one to four o'clock to their large number of friends in honor of the silver anniversary of their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Tracy were the recipents of a large number of beautiful presents.

Mr. Wm. Grah, jr., came up from Columbus to be present at the family Christmas dinner given by Mrs. Wm. Radbone, a sister of Will, at which time just twelve sat down to partake of the bounteous repast prepared for the occasion. From here Mr. Grah goes to Cleveland and then to Hamilton, O., to be present at the wedding of Miss Campbell, a niece of Gov. Campbell, before returning home.

DOUBLE SUICIDE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—Yesterday W. B. McGregor, a newspaper reporter, and Leah Benjamin, aged 17, who were secretly married two months ago, took morphine with suicidal intent. McGregor was dead when found; the girl may recover. No cause is known for the act other than the secret of their marriage.

FOUND MURDERED.

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—Ella Winter, a pretty girl aged 19 years, was found dead this morning in the store-house attached to the broom factory of Albert Dallennodale with a ghastly wound in the back of her head.

Three men have been arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the crime.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

Two Popular Young People Take the Solemn Vows.

This beautiful, sunny morning at 9 o'clock, Dr. Helen M. Stem and Mr. Richard B. Moore made, publicly, the final promise which unites them for life. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Vallette and their two young lady daughters, old-time intimate friends of the bride's family. Dr. Williams of the First Congregational church, solemnized the contract in his customary earnest and graceful manner, in the presence of a few relatives and near friends. The pleasant double parlors wore their festoons of Christmas greens, the house was darkened and gas lighted. The bride looked happy and charming in a delicate tint of tan color, in soft-weave Bedford cord with faille silk vest and garniture of the same shade. She wore a cluster of La France roses with natural foliage, in her corsage. The groom wore the conventional black and bore himself with becoming dignity. The guests from out of the city were the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Stem, of Bluffton, O., Mrs. C. A. Cramer and Mrs. Stem, of Sandusky, and Mrs. Moore, of Maumee. Among the relatives and friends in the city were Mr. Albert Moore, father of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, relatives of the groom's family, Mr. D. Cotter, Mrs. Morehouse, Mrs. L. Burbank and Mrs. E. C. Tompkins. A dainty breakfast was served on small tables placed in the parlors directly after the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Moore soon took their departure for the railway station, en route for their new home in Denver, Colorado, where Mr. Moore has a fine situation in a railroad office. A great number of elegant and exquisite gifts bespoke the regard and esteem of a large circle of friends. Showers of rice, good wishes and congratulations followed them to the carriage door, where the good byes were spoken.

SHOT BY A NEGRO.

A Conductor Killed by One of His Passengers.

A Posse with Bloodhounds on the Trail of the Murderer, Whose Friends Claim They Will Defend Him.

Leesburg, Fla., Dec. 28.—Nearly 1,000 armed men in Lake county are scouring the woods between the Florida Central & Peninsular railway tracks and the shores of the Lake Haine in search of a fugitive negro murderer, and about as many negroes with Winchesters are scattered about this city and suburbs, proclaiming that they will protect him from lynching if brought in here.

Just before daylight Sunday morning J. E. Parramore, a well-known conductor of the Florida Central & Peninsular railroad, was shot and instantly killed while on his train not far from here by Thomas E. Mike, a negro, who keeps a colored barber shop in this city.

It was one of the most unprovoked, brutal, and cowardly murders ever committed in this state. Mike got on the train here with a ticket for Orlando, and took a seat in the white passenger coach. When Conductor Parramore came through to take up the tickets and collect fares he approached Mike, asking him for his ticket, took it, and then politely requested him to go into the colored car.

Mike was surly and refused, growling out some insulting language half under his breath. Then the conductor ordered him out of the car peremptorily and the negro obeyed.

Five minutes later Parramore entered the colored coach, and when he was about five feet in front of the negro's seat, Mike suddenly jumped to his feet, pulled a revolver from his pocket, took a step or two toward Parramore, and then took deliberate aim and fired at him. The ball entered Parramore's head just behind the right ear and he fell forward dead.

Mike rushed to the platform, jumped from the train and disappeared in the woods. The train was stopped and run back to this station with the body of the murdered man.

An inquest was held and then Sheriff Galloway organized a posse to search for the fugitive. They have six bloodhounds with them, and it is the general opinion here that Mike cannot escape.

He ran south from the railroad toward Lake Harris. In almost any other direction he could perhaps have eluded his pursuers, but he is penned in between the railroad and the shores of the lake, and has only a small three-cornered piece of country to conceal himself in. The people still in the town fear that the murderer will be caught and be lynched unless the negroes succeed in taking him from the sheriff, when a bloody conflict would be sure to follow. The "Leesburg Rifles," about sixty in number, have been ordered out to preserve peace in town as the negroes threaten it.

COMMERCE COMMISSIONERS.

Three Places to Be Filled by the President.

Morrison Will Be Appointed to Succeed Himself—A Spirited Contest for the Other Two Places.

Washington, Dec. 28.—On the first day of January, 1892, there will be three vacancies on the interstate commerce commission, owing to the resignation of Judge Cooley, the death of Mr. Bragg of Alabama, and the expiration of the commission of Mr. Morrison of Illinois.

It is authoritatively stated that Mr. Morrison will be reappointed.

A lively fight is in progress over the two places, Mr. Clements of Georgia, and Mr. Adams of Arkansas, being the leading candidates for the vacancy caused by Mr. Bragg's death.

SOME MORE GAS FACTS.

The Business is Loosely Managed—Carelessness or Incapacity.

In a purported interview in Saturday night's Blade, President Parsons is reported to have said relative to the Bee's exposure:

"I think I can sit down and show every sentence of it to be untrue."

The sentence is proof of Parson's ignorance of the condition of the city gas plant. Either that or he dissembles. There are 500 citizens of Toledo who know from personal experience that the charges are true. The confession of ignorance corroborates all the Bee has said and more.

It was hoped the publicity given by the Bee to the gross carelessness and worse would have a tendency to remedy the faults, but this does not seem to be the case. Not later than Saturday employes of the gas department visited consumers in the Seventh ward and bored out the mixers, thus destroying the city property. Here is an apt illustration of the management of the department.

A well-known citizen is to-day using free gas. A week ago an employe of the gas department called at the gentleman's residence and said he had received instructions to bore out the mixer, and he actually did bore it out, although a plentiful supply of gas was being received.

The mismanagement seems to run through the entire department. The books are in such a condition that no one knows what the real status of the finances of the department is.

The cash account, which should be balanced every night, has seldom, it is said, been balanced. The fact is the department has no system of bookkeeping except it be "take what you get and never mind who pays it."

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The postoffice department was closed at noon to-day in respect to the memory of ex-Postmaster General Creswell, whose funeral took place this afternoon at Elkton, Md.

Third Assistant Postmaster General Haze, James Maynard, chief clerk of the mail depredations bureau, and C. F. McDonald, superintendent of the money order division, left the city this morning to be present at the funeral ceremonies as representatives of the department.

ON ANOTHER MAN'S PAPER.

One Little Act That Breaks Many Business Men.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 28.—H. Israel Wineberg, who was worth $40,000 before the failure of E. Holland & Co., has transferred nearly all his property. He was a heavy indorser for Holland and was also on the paper of W. H. Beck, a Main street shoe dealer, whose father made a assignment a few years ago, and who is now himself reported to be embarrassed.

Beck's trouble is also due to the Holland failure, twenty judgments and executions, aggregating $6,000, are now pending against him, all unsatisfied, and more are to follow.

Wineberg has foreclosed a chattel mortgage on Beck's stock and all of his real estate is covered by a blanket mortgage to the Commercial National bank of this city. The bank also has a blanket mortgage upon Wineberg's property for $25,000.

POPE LEO VERY FEEBLE.

Believed That He Cannot Survive a Great While.

The Opinion is General that the Head of the Catholic Church is Liable to Die in the Harness.

London, Dec. 28.—The Lancet's correspondent at Rome, who has on a number of former occasions given information regarding the Pope's health, which subsequently proved to be absolutely correct, telegraphs confirming a rumor which has heretofore been treated as doubtful, that his Holiness was seized with a fainting fit after presiding at the last consistory.

It was thought for a time, the correspondent states, that death had supervened, but the efforts of the physicians attached to the Vatican, who were hastily summoned, sufficed to restore animation, and the sufferer rallied, though his condition remained critical for several hours.

The fact that the Pope had fainted was kept a profound secret at the time, in compliance with a standing order strictly imposed upon the personnel of the Vatican, according to which, even in the event of the Pope's death, the fact is not to be divulged until the Cardinals present in Rome at the time have completed certain acts preliminary to the conclave which is to choose the new Pontiff.

These acts are prescribed by a secret bulletin lately issued by the Pope, and their exact nature is not known. It was impossible to obtain any confirmation of the story at the Vatican, and for the same reason the world will not learn authoritatively of the Pope's death until some time after the event.

Few believe that his holiness can survive much longer. The chronic intestinal catarrh from which he has long suffered is prone to take an acute turn during such severely cold weather as that which is now prevalent, while the senile anaemia, which causes the doctors greater anxiety than any other symptom, is always more pronounced after the aged Pontiff has undergone unusual exertion, as in the case of the consistory.

This being the case, Saturday next is looked forward to with apprehension in view of the fact that his holiness will again on that day be subjected to a strain which, in his enfeebled condition, he is not fit to bear.

Despite the protests of his physicians and confidential associates, he has promised to assist actively at the ceremonies attendant upon the unveiling of the monument to Innocent III., and to receive the numerous bishops who will visit Rome on that occasion.

Fifty of these guests have already arrived. The monument, which stands in the Basilica of St. John Lateran, has been erected at the pope's personal expense, the outlay being 500,000 francs. In reply to the appeals which are made to him to abandon his intention the pope simply says: "I am in the hands of the Lord."

The doctors complain that his holiness is always enlarging his field of work, instead of confining his labors to absolutely routine matters, as he ought to do in order to conserve his strength.

One instance of this tendency was furnished by his undertaking personally the arduous correspondence and series of interviews involved in organizing the foreign hierarchy for the purpose of holding a council of bishops of all countries every year, at which the temporal and spiritual welfare of the various peoples may be considered from the view point of the church universal.

The only way to account for the pope's persistent disregard of medical advice on these subjects is to assume that he regards his course as nearly run, and it resolved to literally die in the harness, occupied to the last moment in zealous exercise of such faculties as are vouchsafed him.

MRS. GRAHAM'S
Cucumber and Elder Flower Cream

is not a cosmetic in the sense in which that term is popularly used, but permanently beautifies. It creates a soft, smooth, clear, velvety skin, and by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades whiter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind and prevents sunburn and freckles and blackheads will never come while you use it. It cleanses the face far better than soap and water, nourishes and builds up the skin tissues and thus prevents the formation of wrinkles. It gives the freshness, clearness and smoothness of skin that you had when a little girl. Every lady, young or old, ought to use it, as it gives a more youthful appearance to any lady and that permanently. It contains no acid, powder or alkali, and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as dew is to the flower. Price $1.00. Ask your druggist for it.

SAMPLE BOTTLE mailed free to any lady on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to pay for postage and packing. Lady Agents wanted.

DOCTORS FRANCE AND OTTMAN,

Formerly of New York, now the Celebrated Examining Physician of the France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients has decided to visit Toledo.

DR. OTTMAN, SATURDAY, JANUARY 2.

Dr. France will visit Toledo, Wednesday, Jan. 2

Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in the Private Parlor of the Burnett House from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.

The France Medical and Surgical Institute of Columbus, Ohio, is the only Medical Institute in the State Incorporated with a Capital of $300,000.00.

DR. OTTMAN, the Celebrated Examining Surgeon of the

FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,

38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession.

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

☞ Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of U. S. List of 130 questions free. Address, with postage, DR. FRANCE. Nos. 38 and 40 W. Gay St., Columbus, O.

Our sales of Pictures, Picture Frames, where every Two Dollar Purchase entitles to a chance on the Sixty Dollars' worth Premiums will be continued till Friday, January 1, when we will have a Sacrifice Auction Sale before premiums are distributed.

Sales: 10 o'clock a. m., 2 and 7:30 p. m.

NEUHAUSEL BRO'S

THE ORIGIN OF AN OLD SONG.

"The Old Oaken Bucket" Said to Have Been Composed in a Saloon.

"There have been several versions of the origin of 'The Old Oaken Bucket,'" says George M. Young in the January New England Magazine. "The most widely circulated and popularly believed is as follows: When Woodworth was a journeyman printer in an office on the corner of Chatham and Chambers streets in New York, near by in Frankfort street was a saloon kept by a man named Mallory, where Woodworth and several particular friends used to resort. One afternoon the liquor was unusually excellent, and Woodworth seemed inspired by it. After taking a draught, he set his glass on the table and smacking his lips, declared that Mallory's eau de vie was superior to anything he had ever tasted. 'No,' said Mallory, 'you are mistaken; there is one thing which in both our estimations surpassed this in the way of drinking.' 'What was that?' asked Woodworth dubiously. 'The draught of pure spring water that we used to drink from the old oaken bucket that hung in the well, after our return from the field on a hot day in summer.' A teardrop glistened for a moment in Woodworth's eye. 'True, true!' he replied, and shortly after quitted the place. He immediately returned to the office, took a pen, and in half an hour 'The Old Oaken Bucket' was ready in manuscript to be embalmed in the memories of succeeding generations."
